fixtures have just arrived and it is expected everything will be in order for the opening this week. Formal announcement of which will be made later.

Mr. Walker will be assisted by Mrs. Walker, who has had many years' experience in the corset and hosiery business. Miss Rita Nawn, formerly of the Bon Marche, will also be associated with him. On Saturday Miss Marion Condon and Mr. George Quirbach will also join the Walker forces.

A cordial invitation is extended to their many friends and acquaintances to call and inspect the new store.

Mr. Walker is a prominent member of the Lowell Advertising club and has many friends here who wish him success in his new enterprise.

MOTHER, YOUR CHILD'S BOWELS NEED "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overloads. Ask your druggist for genuine "California" which has distinctive markings for babies and children. It is printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

SAY "BAYER" when you buy Aspirin

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on packages or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for colds, headache, toothache, neuralgia, lumbago, rheumatism, neuritis and for pain in general.

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proper directions. Handy boxes of white tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing of Monroeville, Pa. of Sallieville.—Adv.

TRIAL OF GOVERNOR SMALL OF ILLINOIS

WABEEN, Ill., March 26.—Witnesses were gathered here today, ready to go before a grand jury to testify regarding alleged attempts to bribe the jury and ventriment in the trial of Governor Len Small, acquitted of mis-handling state funds last year.

William Riley, former saloon-keeper at Anson, Ill., reported to have charged that E. Brine Field, going warden at Hannu, Ill., accepted $250 from an alleged fund given him to bribe the jury and ventriment in a hotel in a South Shore suburb, according to reports. Field was a member of the jury.

Among those subpoenaed are Leslie Small, the governor's son, and Werner W. Schneider his legal representative. Governor Small said they would deny any knowledge of alleged attempts at bribery.

AGREE ON REPLY TO THE TURKS

LONDON, March 26.—(By the Associated Press.) Complete unanimity has been reached among the allied delegates to the preliminary conference here on Near Eastern affairs regarding the nature of the reply the allies will make to the Turkish counter proposals to the Lausanne peace treaty draft.

A plenary meeting of all the allied delegates will probably be called tomorrow when findings and recommendations of the various sub-committees will be considered and a covering letter to the Turkish government will be drawn up.

GAS EXPLOSION DAMAGES BUILDING

NEW YORK, March 26.—Washington market was damaged today when an explosion of gas in a baker's oven shook the big structure and surrounding buildings. William Roth of Jersey City, who touched a match to the gas-filled oven, was badly injured, and removed to a hospital.

ENDS HOCKEY SEASON

TORONTO, March 26.—The Granite Hockey team, amateur champions of Canada, has played enough hockey this season, and will be disbanded. Officials to day in explaining refusal to meet the champion American sextet in an international series for the Willis trophy, another factor which influenced the decision, it was added, was that the Granite probably will represent Canada in the Olympics next year, where a meeting with the Boston A. team, United States Uthholder, may take place.

New Machine Throws a Beam of Light to Sea Bottom—To Gauge Depth

LONDON, March 26.—The latest nautical invention now in use on a Newcastle pilot boat is a machine which throws a beam of light to the sea bottom, allowing the depth of the water below the ship to be gauged.

The searchlight is worked through a hole in the lower part of the ship while an observation window is placed nearby through which the beam of light may be seen. A mirror is set at the end of a long observation tube running vertically through the ship to the bridge. By working a handle an officer can take any angle of the projected beam and by a simple calculation measure the depth of the water below.

TO RESUME NEAR EAST PEACE CONFERENCE

PARIS, March 26. (By the Associated Press.)—The near east peace conference will be resumed at Constantinople about April 12, according to the best information available here.

Great Britain will be represented by Lt. Gen. Sir Charles Harrington, commander of the allied forces at Constantinople and by Sir Horace Rumbold, British high commissioner; France by Gen. F. de la Roche high commissioner, and the United States by Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, an observer.

A message received in Paris from Jemal Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, says the Turks hope a definite peace will be made, but that they will not consent to a peace of commercial concessions made at Turkey's expense for the benefit of foreign business interests.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Unique comedy men are Dave Seed and Ralph Austin, appearing in "Things and Stuff" at the B. F. Keith theatre this week. Up to a time Seed and Austin went their merry ways with other partners. Now they combine their talents in one of the finest comedies of travel to be found on any stage. For want of a better name they call it "Things and Stuff." Nothing that high class burlesque contains but that these two men can achieve, and they do it in such a manner as to make themselves always acceptable.

Rae Eleanor Ball and her brother, sure-fire comedians, are also scheduled for appearance here. Ball is a high grade violinist who has popularized many classics, and her brother is a "cellist" of big calibre. His theatre this week. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Masquerader," the feature attraction at the Merrimack square theatre for the first part of the week, comes to the well-known stage with a record that probably never has been equalled. For more than three years it has served as a vehicle for Fay Bates Post, who now appears in the leading role of the screen version of one of the most sensational dramatic features ever filmed. The other feature is "Love in the Dark," starring Viola Dana.

RIALTO THEATRE

"The Greatest Menace," portraying the perils of the drug habit in the United States and the methods which the government is taking to suppress it and also carrying a delightful love story told in a pleasing way, is the main attraction of the Rialto theatre all this week beginning this afternoon. The picture is reputed to be the biggest production of the year and is truly amazing for the way in which the author and director have followed the many details.

Herbert Rawlinson in "One Wonderful Night" is another attraction that makes a good running mate for the big picture, and there is also a snappy comedy, a serial and the Rialto News Review.

THE STRAND

Frank Mayo in a different kind of a story, entitled "The First Degree" will head the bill at The Strand for the first three days of this week. It's an out-of-the-ordinary story of a man who brings to the surface new accomplishments never before reflected by this star. Gladys Walton in "A Dangerous Game" is a feature, and there will be the usual comedy and Weekly. It's a big bill. Don't miss it.

H. T. Fletcher Asked to Be Chairman of Committee on Armaments at Conference

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 26. (By the Associated Press.)—Henry T. Fletcher, head of the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference has been asked by several of the most interested nations to be chairman of the committee on armaments.

Although the full committee will be composed of 18 members representing all the delegations it is expected that a sub-committee will be named consisting of representatives of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and the United States, and it is assumed that Mr. Fletcher will head this group.

The committee probably will seek a modification of the positions taken by the A. B. C. powers with reference to their armament requirements. With the expectation that Argentina and Brazil will be able to find a common ground, Chile is learned, anticipates suggesting a proposal for reference of the differences to a committee which will report at the next conference. Argentina has made it known that she is ready to accept the status quo or equality, with any other South American nation.

Mr. Fletcher and Montes de Oca, chairman of the Argentine delegation, have been selected to reply to the opening address delivered by Luis Lloquero, Chilean foreign minister.

CHARGE WOBURN GIRL WITH LARCENY

A continuance to tomorrow, in order that her father and brother might be communicated with, was granted Catherine Brady, alias Dora Hall, 23, of Woburn, who was arraigned in the district court this morning, on a charge of larceny in connection with the theft of a fur coat valued at $1275, a suit valued at $35, a pair of gloves, $2.25, a gold watch, $50, and chain, $5, the property of Rose C. Jacques.

The young woman was arrested by Inspector John J. Walsh in a restaurant in the Greek colony section, this morning. She gave the name of Dora Hall, stating that she had been living with a man by that name until a short while ago, when he left her. She was found guilty of the charge today and bonds fixed at $500 for her appearance tomorrow morning.

ALLEN'S LUNG HEALER SAVES BOY'S LIFE

Seventeen Year Old Boy Restored to Health After Being Given Up.

"The king of remedies is constantly adding many to its army of saved. The story of Mrs. Greenlaw's is only one of many that have come to our notice the last few years. Read what she says:

"My 17-year-old son was taken last March with a bad cold and cough and got so sick that he had to give up his job in the store of Eastman Bros. & Bonnet on taking it and that he could not eat nor sleep and looked like death. After trying everything friends told me about, he continued to get worse and I finally gave up all hope of his recovery. Finally a friend gave him a bottle of Allen's Lung Healer and by the time it was used his housework disappeared. He kept on taking it and in two months his cough was gone and he began to get fat.

"He worked out through the summer and went back to work in the store in September, a well boy, all of which is due to Allen's Lung Healer. It is a wonderful medicine, worth a great deal of praise. It saved this boy's life and I cannot recommend it too highly for bad coughs and colds. It is also good for building up the body."

DANGER OF FLOOD IS AVERTED FOR PRESENT

GREENFIELD, March 26.—Although a big ice gorge in the Deerfield river above Shelburne Falls still remains unbroken, the waters of the river, which have blocked the Mohawk trail within the past few days and crept perilously near the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, had receded early today and the danger of a flood averted for the present. But unless the blockade is removed before another thaw or heavy rains come, serious conditions are likely to result, with possible heavy damage to farms and the Pittsburg division of the Boston & Maine.

In the Connecticut river, there has been no spring breakup here and Chief Engineer Bean of the Turner's Falls Co., said today that none is likely for a week or so. The ice is so thick and firm above the company's dam that horses were driven upon it yesterday. At the Vernon dam, 30 miles above here, trouble from ice has been minimized by the removal from the dam of all the flashboards. Last year, only part of them were taken off and the ice formed a blockade.

TO INVESTIGATE
BRIBERY CHARGES

CHICAGO, March 26.—Members of Gov. Len Small's family have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury which convenes at Waukegan today, to investigate rumors of an alleged attempt to bribe jurors and witnesses in the trial of Governor Small last summer on charges of conspiracy. It became known here yesterday.

Lexie Small, the governor's son, A. E. Small, his son-in-law, and W. H. W. Schroeder, his legal representative, have all been summoned to appear before the jury, the governor announced. Members of the jury which acquitted the governor also have been asked to appear before the jury to testify, it was reported. The total number of subpoenas issued being nearly 50.

PROVIDENCE, R. Jewelry of still greater value was left behind by the thieves, who are believed to have been frightened away after they had entered the first safe.

Tools used in the break were left behind by the cracksmen as well as a trail of gold leading to the neighboring thoroughfare, Blackstone street, where they jumped into a waiting automobile and whisked away.

AMERICAN CAPITAL TO SUMMARY
REBUILD ANGORA
MORNING A. P. NEWS

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—British commercial interests are giving much attention to the efforts of American business houses to obtain concessions from the Kemalist government. The Federation of British Industries, in a letter to its members, points out the growing activities of American capitalists at Angora, and urges them not to overlook this economic invasion of Asia Minor.

The federation mentions the so-called Chester project for the construction of Angora as a modern capital, and says the plan calls for the building of an entirely new town, quite independent of the old capital. The city is to be constructed on wholly modern lines, embracing electric supply, telephone, broad avenues, skyscrapers, modern drainage and water supply and new government buildings.

BOSTON CRITIC
PRAISES O'MORE

"R.H.G." famous musical critic of the Boston Herald was deeply impressed with Colin O'More, the celebrated tenor, who sang at Symphony hall on March 11. O'More appeared in Lowell on March 11, and here in Boston, New York and elsewhere, his voice of exquisite quality and technique brought him columns of praise from the music reviewers.

O'More has been secured to play a return engagement here on Thursday evening, April 5, when he will appear at the Memorial Auditorium under the auspices of Timothy J. Linnahan.

Read what "R.H.G." of the Boston Herald said about the famous tenor after his concert in Symphony hall, Feb. 11:

(By R. H. G.)

Colin O'More, a tenor new to Boston, gave a recital yesterday afternoon before an audience that all but filled Symphony hall. He had the help of Emily Ross Knox, a violinist who played very ably and much to the liking of the audience, and Carl Brunner, an exceptionally able accompanist.

Mr. O'More had to sing but very few notes to make his possession evident of a singularly beautiful voice, a voice of excellent volume and of exquisite range. By the end of his first song, furthermore, Mr. O'More had made it clear that he has taken the pains to acquire a remarkably skilful technique, notable for its even scale, a smooth legato, a firm control of breath which enables him to support solidly strong, high tones, and, above all else, for that deliciously creamy quality of his voice, which gives it a richness and sonority whereby voices gain in lustre and enunciation in clarity. Mr. O'More, indeed, sings in English with a beauty of diction comparable only to Mr. McCormack's or Mr. Roland Hayes. In French he is supremely excellent.

And, to say well, Mr. O'More showed himself able to do good work. The Irish air, for example, which no soprano can make sound well, he contrived to sing with apparent ease and even with effect. The lovely song of Duparc he sang with distinction, and the lively Hue song with charm.

BETROTHAL STARTLES
LONDON SOCIETY

LONDON, March 26.—The recent announcement that a daughter of an English duke was to marry a professional jockey has given London society a severe shock, even in the face of the fact that aristocracy is not as aristocratic as it was when Queen Victoria ruled the land. The news was probably the chief topic at London's dinner tables for many days, and it will be interesting to see if the fact affects the popularity of the bride-to-be.

She is Lady Ursula Grosvenor, elder daughter of the Duke of Westminster, and she will marry Jack Anthony, one of the well known steeplechase jockeys. Lady Ursula is just twenty-one years old and has been considered one of the most beautiful and popular girls of the younger set.

Anthony comes of a good family and served as an officer in the war. His father is a prosperous farmer. The young man rode as an amateur for some years before becoming a professional.

WIELDS A FAST

LONDON, March 26.—The world's knitting champion is an Irish woman who cannot speak English or write a line—and she does not plan to make a lecture tour of the United States. She is just plain Mrs. McShane, of Carrick, County Donegal, Ireland, and until a few weeks ago had never been on a train.

Mrs. McShane, despite these few deficiencies, won the first prize of a 50-guinea cup and £50 in a knitting contest with hundreds of other women, recently held in one of London's largest department stores. She won the prize by completing a jumper in 28 hours and 25 minutes. The second prize was given to a young girl who completed the work in 31 hours.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

LIFE OF CHRIST

A large audience gathered at the Memorial Auditorium in East Merrimack street last evening when "The Eternal Light," a most artistic film production of the life of Christ was shown under the auspices of St. Louis parish. The church choir was present and under the direction of Oliver J. David rendered appropriate hymns while the picture was being shown.

Miss Fleur Anne Broussard sang in splendid voice Faure's "Palmes," while Mrs. M. L. Chaffoux rendered effectively "Adeste Fideles."

"The Eternal Light" is a masterpiece of artistic and religious prestige, reproduced from the great paintings of old masters, expressive of the life and sufferings of Jesus, his environment, his forebears and the mystical occurrences of his conception. One of its most remarkable scenes is the conversion of Mary of Magdalene, the scene in which she washes the feet of Christ, bathing them with her tears and drying them with her glorious hair.

Other notable scenes are the coming of the three kings, the scenes by the sea of Galilee, the baptism in the Jordan and even the difficult picture of the temptation on the mountain.

The flight into Egypt, the arrival of the Magi, the crowd disorder of the garden, Marlon; Beatrice Tall, scenes in which Christ drives the money-changer from the temple, all add to the value of the picture, "The Eternal Light," which was produced by an Italian company, is one of the greatest pictures of the age and all who saw it last evening were loud in their praise.

This Laxative Works
Fine on Old People

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

ADVANCING age with its subdued ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, an every-one learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, you are much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 28 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian aenna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or gripe. It is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, castor oil and such things. They purge and

Now try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. Mrs. E. M. Burgess of Enfield, N. Use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, hiccups, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Are Worn

No matter how long-waisted or unfitted the mode might be—the figure has to have definite beautiful lines or the gown loses exactly what it must have to give it character.

It doesn't take long for the figure that is uncorseted to become nondescript. A woman absolutely needs the support it affords. And that doesn't mean she must be uncomfortable—instead it means she should go to a corsetiere who will assist her in choosing the right corset.

It is complimentary how often Chalifoux's customers select a Modart Front Laced Corset.

THE MILL WAGE QUESTION

Again the controversy between the cotton mill operatives of Fall River and their employers emphasizes the very great need of some state authority to stop in and examine the conditions of the mills and report whether they can fairly meet the demands made by their employees and to state just what they could be expected to do under the circumstances.

While the wage-earners and their employers have no such auxiliary to aid in settling their disputes, there will be ever-recurring conflicts and controversies that will threaten the maintenance of industrial peace and in many instances lead to strikes where no conflict of the kind should be necessary.

The Fall River operatives have demanded an increase of 15 per cent in wages and it was confidently expected that the mill men would come forward with an offer of 12 1/2 per cent or at least 10 per cent. The disappointment of the unions, however, the mill officials reply in a long statement showing in detail why they cannot grant the increase asked for or indeed any amount at this time. They assert that at no time during the past two years and up to the present, has it been possible to sell the standard goods, which constitute the larger part of the production of Fall River mills, at a price that would return the cost of making them on the day they were sold. That is a very serious statement, but it is backed up by others equally discouraging and descriptive of a condition in the textile industry that bespeaks anything but prosperity.

The spokesmen of the mills refer also to the increase in the tax rate in Fall River as another reason why they are unable to meet the demands of the employees. They assert that they must earn $100 for each employee to pay municipal taxes before anything remains for either the employees or the stockholders. In 1913, instead of $100 for each employee, the sum of $33 was sufficient to meet the city taxes. Thus it appears, that high taxes help to keep down wages in the mills.

The great trouble now between the operatives and their employers is that these statements by the mill owners are not regarded as accurate. Here again is felt the need of some state authority or fact-finding committee to investigate the financial and economical conditions of the textile industry in Fall River and to pass upon the accuracy of the statements given out by the mill officials of that city.

It is only natural, however, that in their reply to a demand for increased wages, the mill agents should paint the conditions in the most unfavorable light. If things were quite as bad as alleged in the mills of Fall River, the industry must be at a low ebb, and its future, to say the least, very uncertain. We sincerely hope that the mills of Lowell will not put out such a discouraging statement of their present condition. To do so would be enough to cause many of the skilled operatives to look for employment elsewhere, or to shift to some other line of business. It is only natural that the operatives of cotton mills should seek a living wage as well as those of other industries; and if they cannot get it in those mills, it is reasonable to suppose that they will seek it elsewhere. But if the mill situation is anywhere nearly as bad as described by officials of the Fall River mills, then it would be disastrous for the operatives to go out on strike.

CLINICS FOR WAGE-EARNERS

An experiment started in New York city last year, has created wide interest all over the country in clinics that have to do with treating wage-earners when the latter are stricken with illness or disease. The report of this New York institution shows that thousands of workmen and women have been treated, as well as their children, at this great clinic where costs are very low and service, both medical and advisory, unusually reasonable from every standpoint.

It is called the Cornell University Paid Clinic, and the first annual report just at hand, shows the number of visits made to this clinic was 113,991, by 22,409 different persons. The charge made by the clinic is one dollar a visit. This includes practically a complete medical service, minor operations, laboratory tests, etc. Applicants for treatment are carefully scrutinized and about half of them are rejected on the ground of being able to pay for private medical treatment.

Many health authorities have indicated this "dollar clinic" and indeed it appears to illustrate real philanthropy combined with business. The Rockefeller Foundation is said to be partly supporting the New York clinic, and this, too, is an admirable thing to do with the aid of Baron's millions, of course.

Such experiments have practically unlimited possibilities. No one, of course, wants to discount the value and service of all of our general practitioners; but there is no getting away from the fact that health centers, health clinics and medical clinics are a most encouraging means of conserving health and the lives of the wage-earners, for whose benefit the New York clinic was established mainly to serve.

MR. DAUGHERTY'S MISSION

Washington reports that Mr. Daugherty, United States attorney-general, is now taking the part of chief political prognosticator, assuming authority, in fact, to speak for those who, he says, are sure to support President

Harding in the latter's hoped-for re-nomination for a second term.

We understand Mr. Daugherty commands the respect of Mr. Harding in a measure quite beyond some other G.O.P. stalwarts. Daugherty probably knows the presidential mind as well as anyone, in truth, and appears to be equipped with full reasons when he declares in public that "Mr. Harding will be nominated without contest."

But what makes Mr. Daugherty so positive about it? Upon whose authority does he speak? Does the destiny of the party lie in the hands of the president for four years more—or even in the hands of Mr. Daugherty?

No one knows who will receive the nomination as yet. To be sure, there are no candidates in the "open" for the presidential nomination on the republican side, but time brings changes and Mr. Harding may yet find an opponent in the convention. Neither has Mr. Daugherty the authority, we believe, to act as party boss or as dictator. Time alone will tell who is to be the next republican nominee. It will probably be Harding once more, but contests for the coveted nomination are likely and may bring some surprising results not yet discernible to the most far-sighted political prophets.

BREATHING TIME

Stock gamblers had their lining in Wall street circles the other day, running in fine form as usual and this time under a merry title—Piggly-Wiggly-sounding strangely like a baby's toy plaything or something worse.

Familiar news from the latest gambling spree comes over the financial wires from New York: Thousands of "paper" shares were sold in all corners by the price manipulators, and many eager searchers for easy money were bitten as usual in the scramble for wealth without substance.

It is the same old story—the will gamblers for riches without working for them. Trapped "short interests" were badly stuck in the so-called Piggly-Wiggly battle for control of stock; but the story is not a new one. It is interesting to read that the New York stock exchange has barred the stock and some of its manipulators from organization membership in the future.

If the New York exchange managers had been vigilant and had not countenanced the early battle royal between sordid speculators who bought and sold fictitious shares by the slip-of-paper quotation system, the spectacular and ruinous affair that has caused so much unfavorable comment in conservative financial circles, would not have occurred or at least would not have caused such a flutter in investment channels all over the country.

SNOW AND THE RAILWAYS

While earnings on all the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway divisions show an appreciable increase, according to the reports just issued covering operations during the months of January and February, the net profit after fixed charges and other deductions have been subtracted, is something more than $180,000. It is true that the severe winter storms have necessitated the expenditure of many extra thousands of dollars for removing snow and ice, keeping the traffic rails free from serious blockades and maintaining transit under many handicaps.

The net for the same two months of 1922 was $229,223. The reduction of $45,129 is primarily attributable to increased snow expense and the larger amount of work done on repair of equipment. All in all, the Eastern lines are performing favorably with prospects of doing much better this spring and the coming summer.

BREAKING MORE RECORDS

Freight traffic is breaking all records for this season of the year and the outlook for many lines that have heretofore been unable to conduct their traffic business profitably and earn dividends, is decidedly encouraging. The American Railway association reports that during the week ending March 15, loadings of revenue freight totaled 90,000 cars, just $4,000 and a fraction number above the same week of last year and a total of 204,773 above 1921.

Due to severe weather in various parts of the country, the total last week was 12,677 cars less than the previous week, but the open season is coming along and we may expect more records to be smashed with snow blockades disappearing and general conditions of rail traffic fast rounding into shape for prosperity.

LOST

Lost of sea-216 vessels. This was the toll for 1922, just announced. Once this would have been interesting news to everyone. Now most of us yawn. Interest has been transferred to auto, railroad and airplane accidents, except among those bound to the ocean by a business or personal tie. But for the wireless the number would have been much greater.

As a result of the gradual melting of the snow, we have fortunately escaped the dangers of a spring freshet in the river.

The time will soon have arrived for the spring clean-up. We expect the next few days will dispose of the last of the snow.

Let the wage question be settled and everybody will look forward to a season of good business.

The budget controversy should be settled without further delay.

To many of our citizens better weather will mean better health.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The circus advance agents are on the way. The Ringling combination with Barnum's outfit added, leaves Madison Square Garden next month for the eastern tour that includes New England. The Lowell appearance of the "big time" shows is not announced, but Ringling and his shows will be in Lowell June 27 and 28, at the performance, and that is just before the turn north to Lowell and cities up north. I have just learned that my old friend of the newspaper-publicity game, Dexter Fellows of Pittsburgh, is back again this spring with the Ringlings. He has been advance press agent for Barnum, Forepaugh, Sells Bros. and the Ringlings at different times, and has been steadily at it for more than 25 years. I first met him when I was employed on the old Pittsburgh Daily News, now defunct and buried without laurels. Fellows is the greatest press agent of the circus realm beyond question. Everybody in the newspaper game all over the U. S. A., Canada and Mexico, knows "Dex" Fellows of Pittsburgh. Great boy to distribute free passes to the big show when he drops around and sees the boss. If he finds a city that he can't "list," there's some way to capture the city authorities, and if it isn't dispensing an exclusive "free list," it's the real coin of the realm, and the Barnum and Ringling always trust "Dex" to treat the town folks right when picking dates and selecting show grounds.

Clean-up campaigns are coming along now, with the first week in May chosen by some cities and towns for the big sweep-out of winter debris. The England clean-up and painting campaign, conducted at western headquarters, sends me a proclamation concerning clean-up week in May, urging mayors, selectmen, improvement societies, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, manufacturers, merchants and householders to enter a contest for a sterling silver cup, which will be awarded to the city or town in New England conducting the best planned and most thorough campaign. The championship trophy was first won by Boston in 1921, and Lynn won it last year. It must be won three times to become the property of the winner. It is a silver cup and a trophy for the cleanest New England city in 1923.

Allen W. Clark of St. Louis builted better than he knew when in 1913 he suggested to his friends and neighbors in that city the idea of holding a general public and private clean-up and brightening-up period under the slogan: "Clean Up and Paint Up." The example of that first campaign has been a factor for good throughout the nation.

Dates for the country fairs to flourish temporarily in the vicinity of Lowell have just been selected. Lowell Driving Club and Agricultural society will hold its first annual fair with a horse show and races, the dates selected being August 30, 31 and Sept. 1. Groton Agricultural society will hold a three-day fair on Sept. 22, 23 and 24. Acton Agricultural society's dates are Sept. 21 and 22.

Lowell Driving Club executives and members of Lowell Agricultural fair committee, will this week meet the trustees of the new Memorial Auditorium to arrange for the free use of the Liberty hall quarters on the night of May 17, when a rally open to all citizens of Lowell and vicinity will be held with notable speakers, the meeting being called to arouse interest in the August three-day exhibition and shows at Golden Cove park. Congressman John Jacob Rogers has promised to speak and Lester Smith, representative of both the Massachusetts and New England fair associations, will also address the meeting and outline programs for the Lowell fair.

Gilbert W. Wright, owner and proprietor of "Alfalfa Farm" in Westford, always a Mecca of interest to visitors desiring to see genuine alfalfa raised by the four-crop-per-year methods originated by Mr. Wright, has prepared an interesting paper on modern farming and land tillage that is to be read at Wednesday's fourth institute of the season to be held at the Westford town hall under the auspices of the Middlesex North agricultural society.

April 1 this year will be Easter Sunday, and beginning on the Monday following it, Lowell's social activities will again be in full swing. On April 6 the Lowell Guild will hold a ball, the proceeds of which will be devoted to their work of district nursing. The officers of the Guild have been fortunate to procure for this affair the services of the Brunswick sister students of the Denishaw school of classical dancing, and it is understood that these girls will give two dances for the Guild. "Early one dance is all that they give and the other the night after," two boys speak well for their desire to help in every way they can the work of the Guild. The past winter has been especially hard on the different charity organizations of this city, and it is because of the fact that the Guild treasury is nearing depletion that they have planned on the ball. Lowell people are always willing to help a worthy cause and they need have no fear in lending their support to the Lowell Guild, for the number of blue-blooded district nurses seen journeying around the city visiting any home where sickness rages and their help is desired is ample proof of the good the organization is doing.

MISS LYONS HONORED

Several young girl friends of Miss Josephine Lyons of South Andover, gathered at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Clark of Puffer street, on Friday night and presented Miss Lyons a valuable present of gold. Miss Lyons is about to leave Lowell to take up a course of training at the Carney hospital in Boston. The evening was pleasantly spent by all present and guests and dancing and refreshments were served and the party broke up at a reasonable hour, wishing Miss Lyons genuine success in her new endeavor.

SEEN AND HEARD

Soft words turneth away black eyes.

A still found in a mine near Pomeroy, O., made it a gold mine.

A Thought

There is an ill-breeding to which, whatever our rank and nature, we are almost equally sensitive—the ill-breeding that comes from want of consideration of others—Bulwer Lytton.

Very Welcome Visitor

A tourist who had been caught in a severe storm in the Highlands of Scotland congratulated himself after finding a solitary cottage, on being asked to stay over night. After doing a bit of housework, he met the mistress on the stairs with a big book in her hands. The good woman, mistaking the stranger for her husband, gave him a thump on the head, remarking: "That's for askin' the man to stay a night."

Poor George!

Every day since they had started horsekeeping his bride had given him the same kind of breakfast food, and finally he mustered up courage to make a gentle inquiry. "How does it happen that we have this every morning?" he asked. "Oh George!" she exclaimed. "They give blue coupons with each package and for 100 coupons you can get the finest rocking chair. You have only to eat 90 more packages!"

The "Busless" Conductor

At her first pantomime Fanny was inquisitive. After having asked many unanswered questions she focused her attention on the conductor of the orchestra, who was waving his baton in a very businesslike manner. "Mother," she said, after gazing intently at him for some minutes, "who is the man who waves his arms about in the band—the one with the long hair?" "O, that's the conductor, dear," replied mother. Fanny looked more inquisitive than ever, and then turned to her mother and remarked in high pitched tones, "The conductor? Then where's his bus?"

The Other Fellow's Case

An old Scotsman, in legal difficulties, called in his lawyer, to whom he presented the facts of the case and demanded to know what his chance of winning the suit would be. The lawyer was most encouraging. "That being the case, I'll not take action," announced the Scot firmly and decidedly. "But why not?" the lawyer asked in surprise. "Weel," said the canny Scot, "ye ken a course that it's my opponent's case I'm putting to ye."

Three Fatal Words

Heard at the dance: "See that woman over there?" "Yes, what about her?" "Well, if it hadn't been for three words she spoke about 10 years ago I should now be as rich as Croesus." "Delightful situation. Go ahead with the tale." "Well, her father owned two coal mines, and her family were absolutely ruling in wealth, and with all her riches, she was mean enough to deprive me of my chances of making over a million at one blow." "Well, what is the rest of the story?" "What were the all-important three words?" "Why, I was going to marry her, and then all her riches would have been mine, but—" "But what?" "But when I asked her to be mine she said, 'No, you fool!'"

Happiness

"Happiness," I thought, "is rich. A palace, proud and gay, Whose windows catch the flaming sun, And steal its gold away." "Some day," I said, "I'll take my place. My heritage, my right, Some day, I'll dwell there as an heir, In splendor and delight!"

Happiness, I found, is humble, A cottage down a lane, Strange guests are often sheltered there.

The ache of tears and pain, And when I reached the open door, The threshold worn and thin, I cried, "I am not worthy!" But it gently drew me in.

THOUSANDS OF STILLS IN DONEGAL MOUNTAINS

BRIEF, March 25.—The manufacture of illicit whiskey is being carried on vigorously in the desolate Donegal mountains, according to reports reaching this city.

Pretty collections in attractive Irish costumes are being contrived by acting as goats. They sit and knit near the stills and have arranged such a perfect system of signaling that the police cannot approach within five miles of any particular still without the dispatch of a warning of their presence.

Enemies are said to carry on this business in ravines and valleys of the mountains and thousands of stills are reported to be in operation. The "holstein" thus brewed is sold to publicans who are making enormous profits. So closely does the liquor resemble commercially produced whisky in color and taste that a connoisseur is often deceived.

MANY GRASS FIRES

At 11:50 o'clock a third grass fire at 321 Westford street was also reported for a telephone call.

PLAN NEW YORK-NEWPORT AIR SERVICE

NEW YORK, March 25.—The hydroplane will enter the commuting business on June 25, it was announced last night, after completion of plans for a New York-Newport air service, upon the opening of the resort's season. It will be a week-end service to carry wealthy society folk who are among the incorporators.

Three four-passenger planes will enter the service. The 125 mile journey will be made in an hour and a half, according to the schedule. The time by train is six hours. Luggage will be carried in the planes but will cost their owners one cent a pound in addition to the $30 fare each way.

The company is to be operated with the aid of a subsidy provided by well known social leaders of Newport. Daily trips will be made.

Papers of incorporation for the company, to be known as the New York-Newport Air Service, Inc., will be filed in Maryland today. The incorporators, who will also be directors, are Vincent Astor, Grover Loening, Edwin de T. Bechtel, Charles L. Lawrence, Roger M. Poor, Albert Palmer Loening and John Carrington Yates, all of New York.

THE FINISH

SAN FRANCISCO.

The way to San Francisco, at least the way we came, Is forty hundred miles or so, and no two miles the same! We've wallowed through the Southland's mud—and mud is mud down South.

We've climbed the mountain passes and we've known the desert's drought.

The spirit of the old-time west is passing, so they say, But in this blithe and happy town it flourishes today, The olden camaraderie, the glamor and romance Of daring forty-niners who would always take a chance Still dwell within the hearts of men amid this joyous town Where fortune, like the city streets, runs gaily up and down. Life tangles like the ocean wind and it is good to be Once more among the seven hills that smile upon the sea!

FANS LOOK TO HARKINS TO BRING IN INDIANS FIRST DIVISION CLUB, SAYS BILLY EVANS

Veteran Has Already Headed Two Lowell Championship Outfits—Present Team Needs But One More Victory Over Worcester to Capture Flag

FERDIE HARKINS
Captain Lowell Team

"BLACK" CONNEY
Lowell Substitute

Lowell fans are extremely confident that history is going to repeat itself and that Ferdie Harkins, who has already brought two pennants to the Spindle City, is to soon lead his team to another championship.

Harkins came to Lowell six years ago to head the team in the American league, and in his first season he succeeded in piloting his charges to the pennant. That year he had Williams, Griffith, Cusick and Purcell as teammates up until the final few weeks of the season. Cusick met with an injury and the resurgent Harkins, who was in the midst of a hot fight for the pennant, made a trip to New Bedford and succeeded in getting Paul Gardner, a home hero and fill out for the remainder of the season.

The following year Harkins again headed the Lowell club and with Bob Hart at first base in place of Williams and Aquilino and Paul Gardner at shortstop, and himself and Griffith playing their regular positions, he succeeded in landing his second consecutive pennant.

When the owners of the present Lowell team began negotiating for a franchise in the new league they immediately opened up everything with Harkins. He was cited as the chance to again come here and all season has been playing great polo. He went good at second base, but when he dropped back to center when "Boss" Hardy was forced out of the lineup by illness, he continued to go like a house afire.

Starting out this season Harkins was handicapped because of the failure of Blueflier, originally drawn to play goal, to report. Lovegrove was secured to fill in. Negotiations continued with Blueflier for a couple of months. The Racine Goats at one point accepted terms and agreed to come here, but later he changed his mind. No other man was available and the team went along with the youngster in the cage.

Lovegrove played a fairly good game but he lacked aggressiveness and opposing rushers took advantage of his inertia. But the moment Jettie was come available, following the withdrawal of Salem from the league, he was brought to Lowell and this move proved a ten-strike. The team immediately began to climb. Then another change came with Hardy coming to fill in when Jettie took sick.

The new lineup continued to play great polo and was traveling at a fast clip, when the league came to a premature end. With such a lineup Lowell fell strong enough to tackle any of them. Lowell also felt that Worcester could not justly be proclaimed the winner of the pennant, when it did not finish the season. The series games were arranged. First Lowell eliminated New Bedford, then it took on Worcester.

The Lowell-Worcester series has now on. Lowell has won two out of the three games played. The fourth game will be played tomorrow night. A Lowell victory in this game means the pennant. A reverse tonight would bring another game to settle pennant possession. Both teams are out to win tomorrow night and what gives every indication of being one of the greatest polo battles of the season is expected to ensue.

While developing championship contenders last year Harkins' favorite since entering polo, he has also developed many star players. His faculty of being able to place the ball about where he wants to, or always being ready to make the other fellow shine providing the results were satisfactory, in a word his desire for collecting evidence rather than individual effort combine to make him the ideal leader.

This season Harkins started Arthur "Black" Conney in the game. The latter, a local boy, impressed Harkins as a corner and he used him as sixth man on the Lowell team all season. Conney filled in for Lowell several times and also stepped into the breach when other teams came to town short handed. He played good polo and the Lowell captain is confident that if given the opportunity he will develop into a great player. Conney played with Portland, Worcester, Providence and Lowell. He made one trip to Portland as a member of the Lowell team, where he started, getting all the goals registered by Lowell. Harkins feels that next year the local youth ought to make the grade.

BY BILLY EVANS
LAKELAND, Fla., March 25.—"Well, how do they look to you?" was my first question to Manager T. J. Speaker of the Indians.

The players had just appeared on the field for morning practice and were looking the ball around as a preliminary warmup.

The veteran manager of the Cleveland Indians, who has been in the organization ever since he was a boy, was slow to answer. "I know that his program for the year called for the rebuilding of his world champions 1922. Imagine my surprise when he replied,

"Cleveland is going to see a good ball club this year. It is going to be far stronger than my wildest imagination ever pictured it. It's a team with a new spirit that is going to fight for every ball game. The boys have forgotten they ever won a pennant and a big series.

"Don't misunderstand me and get the impression I am figuring on a pennant. The big idea the coming season is to win ball games that is what all the boys are thinking about.

"However, I am willing to go on record as to what I hope the boys will accomplish. I feel sure that the Indians will finish in the first division. When I say first division I mean fourth place.

"If a club is able to stick around fourth place it always has a chance to be second or third and often first place isn't far away. Holding down a berth in the first division is the goal at which the Cleveland club is shooting and I am positive the boys will deliver.

"I have some mighty good looking youngsters. I am sure several of them will help me. Pitching, of course, is a problem that remains to be solved, but on what the boys have showed me, I feel that the pitching staff will be capable of holding its own."

After watching Speaker's ball club in action through several practice sessions and a regular game, I am inclined to agree with Speaker's estimate of the team's possibilities.

Glenn Myatt is going to help the catching end of the game. For years O'Neill has had to carry the burden of the bat, and when Steve was injured the club suffered. In Myatt, Steve will have a running partner capable of dividing the burden. And there is Luke Sewell, who will be greatly disappointed if he isn't one of the stars of the league in a few years.

At third, Walter Lutzke, the Kansas City recruit, will hold a regular in a replica of Bill Bradley in looks, style and mannerisms. Incidentally he seems to have the ability that made Bradley the greatest third baseman of all time.

The other recruit who is certain to start as a regular is Homer Summa, slated for right field. The best looking outfielder that I have seen in the American league in years is the compliment Speaker pays him.

The Cleveland club can hit. Myatt, Summa and Lutzke will supply the much needed young blood to the lineup. If the Indians get their share of good pitching they are bound to be a dangerous factor in the race.

Stephenson, .350 Batter, Without Regular Job—Unusual Case

HISTORY REPEATS IN CASE OF FOWLER

ORLANDO, Fla., March 24.—His history repeats itself in the case of "Chas" Fowler, infield recruit of the Cincinnati Reds.

"Chas" Fowler attended school at Cincinnati, Ohio, and broke into the big league as a good scholar and an even better athlete.

In football, Fowler was the sensation of the southwestern conference. "Miller" Muller doesn't mean a thing when it comes to throwing forward pass for distance and accuracy is the subject of discussion.

No one is wondering what all that has to do with history repeating itself.

It so happens that Pete Donahue, star pitcher of the Reds, came direct from Christian Brothers college to Cincinnati. Fowler hails from the same institution. There you have it.

Fowler is a shortstop. He is the ideal build for that position, tall and rangy. He measures close to six feet and weighs about 165 pounds, all bone and muscle, except above the shoulders. He bats left handed, is very fast and has a great arm.

"The best looking youngster I have seen in years," says Manager Pat Moran, "he has great possibilities unless he develops some serious fault that has not as yet been uncovered."

"He reminds me of 'Boss' Ely, former star of the Pittsburgh team, one of the greatest shortstops the game has ever produced. He has a wonderful natural ability he seems to have plenty of nerve."

Moran is hoping that Fowler will repeat the success of Pete Donahue and feels the recruit has a chance.

MAY CROWD GARDNER OFF THIRD CORNER

BY BILLY EVANS
LAKELAND, Fla., March 26.—"If sitting on the bench is a soft job in baseball, this is going to be an easy season for me."

That is the comment Larry Gardner passed to me as we watched Walter Lutzke, the new third sacker of the Cleveland team, in action.

Larry Gardner, one of the greatest third sacker in the history of the game, a veteran who is closing a remarkable career, a player who is a distinct credit to baseball, felt no anxiety toward the youngster who seemed destined to crowd him off the third corner.

"Sitting on the bench may be a soft job for some players," continued Larry, "but I feel it is going to be a hard one for me. I like to be in there every day."

However, I think I will be able to help him. I hope to be of considerable use as a pinch hitter, and then there is the possibility that some of the boys will be sent down. I know that will improve his place."

That is the Larry Gardner type of player. He is for the team all the time. If Lutzke at third will give added punch to the Indians, no player on the team will be stronger for the move. Gardner, the big job will be helping Lutzke polish off the rough spots.

Lutzke certainly impressed me most favorably. He every move reminds me of Larry. His every move reminds me of Larry. He has one of the finest pair of hands I have ever seen on a ball player.

What he will hit against major league pitching is a question, but surely any player who can swing the pill for an average of .325 in the American association should hold his own at the bat in fast company.

BIG MOMENT IN CAREER OF GUISTO

BY BILLY EVANS
LAKELAND, Fla., March 26.—The big moment has finally arrived in the baseball career of first baseman Louie Guisto.

Guisto will start the 1923 season as the regular first baseman of the Indians. It will be his first real opportunity.

Speaker has told Guisto that first base belongs to him, that he has no competition for the bag, and that it is up to him to prove Speaker's faith in him.

For six years Guisto has been the property of the Cleveland base ball club. He came to the Indians as a sensation of the Coast League, certain to win a berth as a regular.

Hard luck has handicapped Guisto from the very start. Illness, injury and the World War all played a part in giving him a black eye as a big league star.

This is the big year for Guisto. It is up to him to make the most of it. The first evidence of Speaker's faith in Guisto is to deliver the giving of an unconditional release to Louie. Guisto is a veteran with only a few good years left. Guisto is many years younger. Is a wonderful fielder and should hit.

"The Cleveland club thinks so well of him that he has been carried on the pay roll for six years. The time has arrived for him to be regarded as a regular or cut loose."

"I feel that he has the makings of a regular. I have given him the property of the bag and I certainly seem mighty logical."

It is now up to Guisto to cash in on the big opportunity.

Jettie connected for a home run apiece during the game. The Seconds will try to get two more games for next Saturday and Sunday on Emerald Park as those are about the only grounds that are fit to play on at present.

PIRATES AND SOX IN BATTING BEE

25 Hits, Including Five Home Runs, in Exhibition Game at Hot Springs

Many of the Braves, Including Jocko Conlon, Under Weight—Rest Ordered

BOSTON, March 24.—That the Red Sox and the Pirates have acquired their batting eyes was illustrated by their total of 25 hits, 5 of them home runs, in an exhibition game yesterday which Pittsburgh won, 12 to 1, according to word reaching here from Hot Springs, Ark. Camp Skinner and Joe Harris knocked the Red Sox circuit clouts, while Russell, Tierney and Glazner made the long hits for the Pirates.

Word from the St. Petersburg, Fla., camp of the Braves, is that hereafter the squad will have but one practice session a day. A number of the squad, including Jocko Conlon, former Harvard star, are under weight as a result of their severe courses of training. Only two exhibition games are on the schedule for this week, with the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg on Tuesday and with Cleveland at Lakeland, on Saturday.

Bentley Reaches Giant Camp
NEW YORK, March 25.—Jack Bentley, another of John McGraw's expensive bits of baseball machinery, was expected to hit his new home look his shoos over today, his first in the giant training camp at San Antonio, Tex. The big left-hander, who was a bolt for some weeks after his purchase from Baltimore for $65,000, arrived in camp last night.

Bentley, the Giant and the Yankees won their exhibition games yesterday, the former downing the White Sox, 8-6, and the American leaguers defeated the New Orleans Pelicans at New Orleans, 3-2. Pitchers of the major league teams flashed excellent form and the balmers displayed excellent co-ordination of eye and shoulder swing.

It was announced at Clearwater, Fla., where the Hobins are training, that the Braves will leave Thursday for New Orleans, where they will open a long exhibition series with the Yankees Saturday.

Jocko Conlon Makes Good
BOSTON, March 25.—The training camp performances of Jocko Conlon, captain of the Harvard college nine last year, now trying to make good as an infielder with the Boston Braves, have impressed observers at St. Petersburg, Fla., more than has the work of any other recruit.

His batting has been consistently good. He made hits off a fast ball right-hander, a southpaw and a right-handed spitball pitcher in one game. The Braves played with Washington, he made three two base hits in as many times at bat against Brooklyn Saturday and made them to all fields.

In the field he made several sparkling plays at shortstop. Shifted to third, Conlon was equally good. He started two double plays and scooped up a hunt with one hand to throw out a fast runner at first base.

Manager Fred Mitchell of the Braves will not commit himself yet as to whether Conlon will be a regular, but he does say that any player who can continue at the post "Jocko" has a traveling is sure to be a big league star.

SHERROD SMITH WINS FOR BASKETBALL TITLE REGULAR PLACE

By NFA Service
LAKELAND, Fla., March 25.—Contrary to the belief in some quarters, Sherrod Smith, secured from Brooklyn, is not to be used merely as a relief pitcher by Cleveland.

The big left hander, who was waived out of the national league, is reckoned as a regular by Speaker. The leader of the Indians feels that Smith will fill a long-felt want on the Cleveland ball club a southpaw able to deliver.

"There wasn't a chance to send Smith to the minors when Brooklyn asked for waivers," said Speaker in discussing the case.

"The very mention of the name Smith always took me back to the 1920 world series and the trouble he made for us. I never saw better pitching than Smith put on display in that series."

It was, and am convinced, that no pitcher as good as Smith was in 1920, could be ready for the minors two years later. I refused to waive on Smith on the form he showed in that series. I felt that I made a wise move."

"Smith is going to work regularly and win a lot of ball games for me. He has plenty of stuff, but best of all has control, a fault so prevalent with all southpaws."

TRIANGLE FIVE WINS
In the Y.M.C.A. gym Saturday night the Triangle Five defeated the Nashua Employed Boys Brotherhood by the score of 25 to 14. The lineups and summary follow:

C. Y. M. L. TO PLAY LAWRENCE TEAM

The C.Y.M.L. will play the Pacific A.C. of Lawrence at the C.Y.M.L. gymnasium in Suffolk street tomorrow night and a red hot game of basketball is expected to result.

The lineup will appear the Lawrence brothers, veterans of many basketball battles, also Mahony, said to be a classy player. Fred Flynn, manager of the C.Y.M.L., will depend upon his regulars, who have been playing together all season with great success to bring another victory to the C.Y.M.L. forces.

It is not expected, however, that Mr. Harding will allow too great a departure from his originally proposed program of rest, relaxation and recreation.

LOWELL BOY CANDIDATE

One of the most promising candidates for a berth on the Harvard freshman baseball team this year, is Louie Guisto, who is now in the C.Y.M.L. making a strong bid for third base honors on Coach Claude B. Davidson's yearling aggregation. Last season, Guisto was the star of the Belmont team of Lowell, playing a brilliant and consistent game at the third sack. This team has reorganized for the coming season with the following players as a nucleus from which to select a winning nine: Guis, Lawless, O'Connor, Willard, McCall, Reynolds, Atkinson, Melowell, Garvey and Sullivan.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The game scheduled for Saturday between the Buffaloes and the Emeralds was postponed to Sunday. Instead of the Buffaloes the Seconds played a picked up team who took the name of Young Emeralds. Although the Seconds won the game, the Young Emeralds put up a very good fight, the final score being 7-5. Errors were not scarce in the game. In fact both teams made over 10 errors, but as this was the first game the showing made by both teams was considerably very good. After the game the Young Emeralds decided to keep this lineup and they will play games in the future under the name.

In Sunday the Emerald Seconds defeated the Buffaloes in a free hitting game by the score of 17-12. Shanahan and Strick pitched for the Buffaloes, while Smith pitched for the Emeralds. Gauthier, Burke and Pol-

LUXOR AWAKENED FROM SLEEP OF MANY AGES

VALLEY OF THE KINGS, LUXOR, Egypt, March 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Luxor, like King Tutankhamun, has been roused from its repose of 3000 years and is taking on something of the habits and characteristics of a twentieth century town. For ages a conventional stopping place for Nile excursion steamers and tourists, it has lately become a center for people of all classes, including students, college professors, antiquarians, doctors, undertakers, dressmakers and souvenir hunters. The newly-found tomb of Tutankhamun is the magnet that draws them all. Tourists are attracted here out of curiosity, but professional men and women, undertakers, embalmers, dressmakers and milliners come in the hope of getting new ideas for their business from the mummy chamber of the ancient king.

To modern undertakers the skill of the ancient Egyptians in preserving their dead against the ravages of ages is a source of amazement and mystery, and many of them have applied to Howard Carter, discoverer of Tutankhamun, for the privilege of examining the Pharaoh's body when it is divested of its garb of gold and its blazoned bandages.

Embalming in ancient times was a much more elaborate and expensive process than it is today. It required three months for its completion, and cost $1500. It was a luxury that could be afforded only by the rich. The ancients believed that mummification in this life was the only sure means of their resurrection in the next. Papyrus efforts were made by the poor to secure eternal life to their dead. American archaeologists in Luxor have lately found skeletons of humble peasants placed near the graves of the royal dead. Their relatives, it appears, too poor to pay for embalming, placed the bodies near the graves of the nobles in the hope that their poor frames would partake of the sacredness of the nobility and thus rise with them in the next life.

The first step in embalming a body in Pharaonic days was to place it in a powerful saline solution for three months. The intestines were then removed by means of a sharp-edged stone, the brain, heart and liver were taken out and the body impregnated with myrrh, acacia, bitumen and aromatic oils. It was then wrapped in hundreds of yards of linen soaked in preservative. The mummy of the mummy was accompanied by a long and incantations to the gods, led by the high priests.

Herbert E. Winlop, director of excavation at Thebes for the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, showed the correspondent a 4200-year-old Egyptian papyrus that he unearthed last week in the valley of the Queens. Allowing for natural emaciation and shrinkage, the body is amazingly well preserved. The teeth and hair are intact. The neck, wrists and ankles bear a series of slight indentures, indicating according to Mr. Winlop, that her ancient highness wore a necklace, bangles and anklets which undoubtedly had been stripped from her by tomb-robbers soon after her interment.

The royal mummy, Mr. Winlop said, was that of a woman of 22 or 23, who undoubtedly had been a favorite in the court of one of the Amenhotep kings. Her bosom and arms were delicately tattooed with heraldic figures, indicating her noble lineage. Over the lower part of the abdomen was a long scarred

THE RELIGION OF KING TUTANKHAMEN

The religion of King Tutankhamen of Egypt was the subject of an interesting sermon delivered last evening by Rev. Edward Babcock before a large congregation in the First Baptist church. It was another in the series of special evening sermons on present-day inquiries into religious matters being given at this church by Dr. Babcock. Lenten selections were given by the choir.

Dr. Babcock's sermon was taken from Luke 8:35. He referred to the recent discoveries and the finding of the tomb and treasures of King Tutankhamen. Speaking of the religion of Egypt in King Tut's day, the pastor said that notwithstanding the Egyptians worshipped the sun, moon and stars, the river and winds, the famous king believed in a personal God only, and the common people were not admitted to the knowledge of only one God.

The Egyptian ruler also believed in personal immortality, heaven being a special place for kings and conquerors where all must be provided with horses, chariots and martial equipments of other kinds.

Mr. Babcock declared that God does not care anything about a man's wealth or prominence, but considers faithfulness above worldly influence. However, the pastor said, is a definite place. The Lincoln memorial at Washington is a tribute to a life of unselfish service.

King Tut did nothing that was really worth passing on. Dr. Babcock advised his parishioners to live so that they may perform "at least some kind of deeds and lead to a knowledge of Jesus as Savior."

John Drew's 50th anniversary on the stage is observed by notable tributes at dinner in New York.

BALKAN QUEEN HOPES TO VISIT HERE SOON

BUCHARIST, March 25.—Queen Marie of Roumania hopes some time in the near future to realize her long-cherished wish to visit the United States. While political and economic conditions in Roumania are not so encouraging as they might be, the queen believes her people can spare her for a few months to enable her to accept the oft-tendered hospitality of the American people. Herebefore the marriage of her three oldest children, her own coronation and the continued unsettlement of internal affairs in Great Roumania have kept the queen from crossing the Atlantic.

"I do not desire my visit to your country to be a hurried one," she said to the correspondent. "I want the Americans to feel I have come to see as many of them as possible, without distinction. And I want to see the United States from coast to coast. I have received hundreds of the most generous letters urging me to come. It is a journey upon which I have set my whole heart, and I hope before long that my ambition will be fulfilled."

"I have many American friends, and have kept in my heart an eternal gratitude for the way their Red Cross and other organizations helped us during and after the war. I learnt through them to know America's great heart, her sympathy and her deeds. I have worked hand in hand with the devoted American women you have sent to Roumania, and the remembrance of their aid to my people is a blessed one."

The queen extended a warm invitation to American to visit her country, saying they would be given a most cordial welcome at her hands. She said the mutual interest which America and Roumania feel in each other should be made a vital, living thing, and that she was eager to be the channel through which the sentiment of trust and affection between the two peoples should be maintained.

Samuel J. Hill, the road-builder of the Pacific Northwest, and Colonel Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, Va., have offered to conduct the queen on a tour throughout the United States. Mr. Hill accompanied the king and queen of the Belgians on their journey to America, and also piloted Marshal Joffre around the world. Colonel Anderson is an old time friend of Queen Marie, having been identified with her in Red Cross work in Roumania during and after the war.

MISSING TREASURER OF SHOE CO. A SUICIDE

ABINGTON, Mass., March 25.—Thomas Schofield, treasurer of the Stacy-Adams Shoe Co. of Brockton, who disappeared nearly three months ago and whose body was found frozen in the ice here late Saturday, was a suicide by the verdict of a coroner's jury. The body was found in a pond here, frozen into the ice, about 60 feet from the place where his automobile was found with the lights burning on Jan. 2. A wide search had failed to reveal the man's whereabouts, and it had been feared that he had been the victim of foul play.

Immediately after a meeting of the Stacy-Adams corporation on Jan. 2, at which Schofield was elected treasurer of the company at an increased salary, he telephoned to his wife and told her of his promotion and informed her that he would be home shortly. He left the office in his automobile and was not seen alive again. The next afternoon his car was found near the Memorial bridge at Island pond.

The only threatening Dr. William Osgood, medical examiner, stated in his official report made public yesterday. Three Women and One Man Lose Lives in Fire fractured both arms. His wife, suffering from pneumonia, was rescued by firemen. A number of firemen and police were burned while engaged in daring rescues, and a dozen or more tenants were treated for slight burns and injuries.

The apartment house, of the old-fashioned type, adjoins the West Side Y.M.C.A. building. Shortly after daybreak, the superintendent was called to an upper floor hallway to eject an intoxicated man who had wandered in from the street. The man, puffing a cigar, was seen to enter the building some time earlier, but was thought to be a tenant. He was led from the building by the superintendent and disappeared.

Half an hour later, two police roundsmen, attracted by a woman who waved her arms frantically from an upper story front window, saw smoke enveloping her and sounded an alarm. While carrying a woman to the street from the second floor, Patrolman Thomas McHugh stumbled and fell down a flight of stairs, both being badly injured.

Thrilling Rescue

When the first fire fighting apparatus called out on three alarms, arrived, tenants on the sixth and seventh floors were crawling to the window ledges. Firemen, policemen and the crowd of spectators that had gathered shouted encouragement to them while a 50-ft. ladder was being elevated.

Lester D. Wright, one of those who clung to a perilous perch on a narrow stone ledge, prevented some of the women from jumping.

Miss Margaret Lee, severely burned, shouted she could stand it no longer, and Wright, holding to a window sash with one hand, held her in his free arm until the ladder was raised. Both badly burned, were carried down by firemen.

DIES AS DID VIRGINIA RAPPE.

Autopsy on the body of Mrs. Frances Beckwith, (above), former chorus girl and member of a prominent Philadelphia family, has revealed to the New York police that she met death in a manner similar to Virginia Rappe of Arbuckle case notoriously.

Model's Missing Garments Found

ment after Dorothy had been slain, and that the last costume the model wore before she met death had been among them.

In her agitation over Dorothy's death, they quoted Mrs. Keenan as saying she had forgotten to tell the police she had these long sought garments.

Inspector Coughlin was keenly interested in the find because of information given him by Ella ("Billie") Bradford, Miss Keenan's maid, that with the gray costume (as discovered, the model had carried a headed bag containing a letter written her from Palm Beach by John K. Mitchell, wealthy Philadelphia man who had paid her attention.

The police have been working for several days on a theory that Miss Keenan was slain by a would-be blackmailer who knew of her friendship for Mr. Mitchell and knew that she had received a letter from him.

Admission that he had written the model from Palm Beach, was made by Mr. Mitchell Saturday, a few hours after he had been disclosed as the mysterious "Mr. Marshall" whose identity was so closely guarded for nine days.

"Billie" Bradford has told the police she saw Miss Keenan put the Mitchell letter in her handbag the day before her body was found.

Hunt Blackmailer

NEW YORK, March 26.—(Continued) to know the identity of the man who sought to engineer a blackmail plot against John Kearney Mitchell, son-in-law of E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, and the mysterious "Mr. Marshall" of the Dorothy Keenan murder mystery, the police today sought for others believed to have been implicated in the scheme.

The police said action against the unnamed blackmail principal was being held in abeyance pending efforts to obtain evidence to support their theory that the blackmailer, backed in his original plan, doused the model with chloroform that he might get Mitchell's letters to her to be used despite her opposition.

No statement was forthcoming from Mitchell, reputed to have given the model gifts and money aggregating more than $10,000, and said to be the last known man to have seen the girl alive. Nor did his confidential attorney, John H. Jackson, who was the "Wilson" of the 10-day mystery surrounding the identity of the two men give out anything for publication. Mitchell was reported to have returned to his Philadelphia home. Other sources said he still was in New York.

Piot For 'More Than $100,000'

Ella Bradford, negro maid who found her mistress' body 12 days ago, was said to have supplied the authorities with considerable information concerning the blackmail plot for "more than $100,000," which was believed to have brought death to Miss Keenan on her refusal to acquiesce herself against her wealthy admirer.

"We learned from her," said Assistant District Attorney Pecora, "that she had first hand information that a blackmail scheme was on foot against Mr. Mitchell, and she gave us valuable information about the lines the conspiracy would have taken. Even with this, however, some of us have not abandoned the robbery theory."

The police have been unable to find a letter written to Miss Keenan by Mitchell and mailed from Palm Beach, Fla. This letter it was said would have provided blackmailers with a formidable weapon against their intended death. Miss Keenan is known to have had it in her possession a short time before her death.

Stand By Mitchell

PAIM BEACH, Fla., March 26.—Mrs. J. Kearney Mitchell, wife of the wealthy John Kearney Mitchell, identified as the mysterious "Mr. Marshall" in the Dorothy Keenan murder case in New York, left here today aboard a private car for Philadelphia, to join her husband, who was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, her parents.

In a statement to the Associated Press last night, Mr. Stotesbury declared his faith in his son-in-law was not shaken by his alleged connection with the Keenan girl.

Mrs. Mitchell asserted that she and her husband "are the best of chums" and said she knew that he "could not have been unfaithful" to her.

MOTOR SHIP IN TOW

BOSTON, March 26.—The motor ship "Chandru," which was hit off Cape Cod by engine trouble yesterday, was taken in tow for this port by the coast guard cutter "Acushnet" today. She was bound from Galveston for Everett.

Twenty-five years of indigestion was ended for her when she took Tanlac, declares Mrs. M. F. Streeter, well known resident of Newark, in remarkable statement to the public.

"Tanlac has made me feel like a new person and I wouldn't be without it," declared Mrs. M. F. Streeter, 273 S. 8th st., Newark, N. J.

"Off and on for twenty-five years I suffered terribly from stomach trouble. My food disagreed with me and often I could hardly retain a thing. Gas bloated me till my heart palpitated so badly I feared I had heart disease. My nerves were on edge. I couldn't sleep, suffered awful headaches and was simply all worn out."

"But five bottles of Tanlac put me in the finest health. I eat hearty without trouble afterwards, sleep soundly and have no more nervousness or headaches. My gratitude to Tanlac is unbounded."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Adv.

Adventures of The Twins

THE MIXED-UP OSTRICH

PRETTY SOON THEY SAW THE OSTRICH, AND HE WAS ROLLING AROUND ON RED WHEELS AS THE AUTO HAD SAID.

The mixed-up automobile that flew with wings instead of rolling on wheels, spoke to the twins. "I don't think I'll go any farther," it said stubbornly.

"Why?" asked Nancy. "You said you would take us to Jack Straw's house."

"I know, but I might get wrecked," whined the automobile. "I think I'll go home."

"Then how will we get there?" cried Nancy in dismay.

"Magic shoes and a basket of magic eggs ought to help you," said the auto snappily.

"Why, that's so!" declared Nancy, smiling again. "Come on, Nick, we'll have to keep on traveling by ourselves."

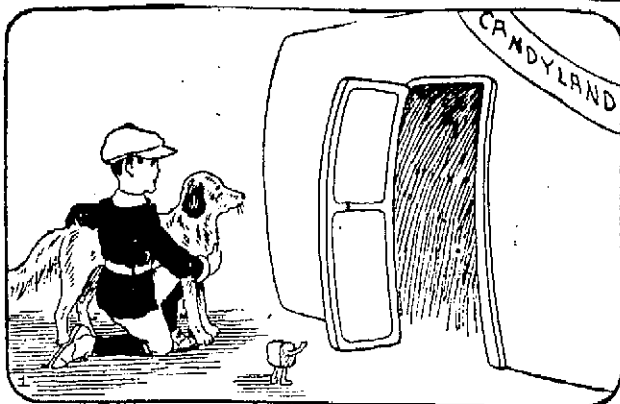

"When Mix-Up Land turns into Apple-Pie Land again, don't forget me, wings!" said the automobile. "Those of it in my tail!"

"If we get Mix-Up Land put to rights soon, you'll have your wings around on my nice red wheels. I hope he returns them in good order, and doesn't get any punctures. They were beautiful wheels," sighed the auto.

Jack Daw in Candy Land. Chapter 4

"This is the entrance to Candy Land," shouted Caramel. "If you will promise that your dog will behave himself and not bother the sugar people who live inside, I will have the door opened." Jack took hold of Flip and promised. The Caramel shouted "Open up in the name of Mister Caramel."

The great door seemed to swing easily. It was all very thrilling to Jack. In a short time the candy box entrance was standing ready for them to enter. "And now," shouted Caramel, "we will step into the sweetest place of all—Candy Land." And with that he stepped through the doorway.

Jack followed closely at Caramel's heels and a wonderful scene greeted his eyes when he was on the other side of the candy box. Candy was running around everywhere. Chocolate drops and bunnies and peppermint sticks and gumdrops looked up at Jack and Flip with much surprise. (Continued.)

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Sarah Dickey, late of Chelsea, in said County, deceased.

Whereas a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by James H. Bowden, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the third day of April, A. D. 1923, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of March, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

ABOLITION OF DIVORCE URGED

Recommendation by Justice
Morschauser, Who Presided
Over Stillman Case

Believes Abolition of Divorce
Should Be Brought About
by Legislation

NEW YORK, March 26.—Complete abolition of divorce is urged by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser, who presided over the Stillman case, in an article in the April number of Columbia official organ of the Knights of Columbus, made public today.

Declaring that he believed the abolition of divorce should be brought by congressional legislation, he added:

"But that is a long way ahead because there are, unfortunately, so many middle-aged and elderly men and some young ones—who for one reason or another, want new wives."

"But one great practical step which should be taken immediately is the passage of legislation making decrees obtained in Paris or elsewhere in Europe invalid. It is all wrong to let a rich man or woman run off to Paris to get divorced. We should not allow a condition to exist which permits wealthy Americans to escape from the operation of American laws."

"Immorality of both men and women, Justice Morschauser believes, should be punished by criminal prosecution, and that 'a man guilty of immorality should receive the same condemnation from the law and from society as a woman.'"

"Publicity he said, was instrumental in arousing public antipathy to existing divorce conditions."

"Publicity has a wholesome effect," the article continues, "it would have every divorce case tried in the open. Divorce is not the disgrace that it should be, but the divorced man and the divorced woman are marked."

"The Stillman judge, however, would not bar entirely the way to freedom in certain cases."

"I would allow separations," he writes, "I would not let a woman to a dirty leech. I would allow an annulment. I would not change our present laws in this state on that score."

HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT

Complete Roster of Commissioned and Non-Commissioned Officers

The complete roster of the commissioned and battalion non-commissioned officers of the high school regiment has just been completed, and is made public in General Orders No. 7 of the regiment. The selection of non-commissioned officers for the company has not been completed. The final examination was to have been held last Friday, but owing to the fire in the annex this was impossible, and it was postponed until some time this week.

The roster, with the exception of company sergeants and corporals, is as follows:

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

—Fines in Liquor Cases—
Other Business

A manslaughter charge against John D. Pomeroy in connection with the death on January 29, of 4-year-old James Kelley, was continued until April 26.

Adolph Lang of Tewksbury appealed a fine of $100 for illegal keeping. Officer Hector Jackson of Tewksbury testified that he, together with Federal Agents Sullivan and Hall, visited Lang's store and found one-half pint of liquor and a couple of empty glasses. The wife of defendant told the officers she sold the liquor for five cents a drink. Lang denied selling, saying the liquor had been given him by another man. Officer Sullivan testified to finding a few 5-gallon cans which smelled, he said, strongly of liquor. When the attention of the officers was attracted, Lang is alleged to have poured kerosene into the cans to expel the smell of alcohol. Lang later withdrew his appeal and paid the $100 fine.

On a plea of guilty to a first offense for illegal sale, Manuel Ferreira was ordered to pay a fine of $100. For a like offense, Wladislaw Dyas also paid a fine of $100.

William Daniels, for obstructing traffic, was continued until next Saturday.

James McMahon, 18, charged with interfering with an officer, was fined $10 with a month to pay.

Officer Conway testified that defendant attempted to secure the release of a prisoner in his custody. The prisoner was being arrested for drunkenness at the time and McMahon, according to the officer, protested.

Agnes Richards pleaded guilty to being drunk when her case was called in the district court this morning. The court explained to defendant that her predicament was a serious one as she is on probation at the present time. The arresting officer testified that he found the woman in an intoxicated condition at 2:30 a. m. Sunday morning. Asked why she was out at that early hour, she replied that she had a headache and was going to the prohibition officer, who was placed on her good behavior until June 24.

Powell Reay and William Sheehan were arrested at the corner of Moody and Tilden streets, where they were causing trouble Saturday night. Both were found guilty and given suspended sentences to the house of correction.

Mrs. Winifred Franklin Whitcomb announces the marriage of her sister, Miss Alice Ruth Shea, to Mr. Joseph Bernard Kulas of Suffield, Conn. Miss Shea was, previous to her marriage, confidential secretary to Senator William M. Calder of New York city, and stationed at his capital office while Mr. Kulas is a law student at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., and is to graduate in June of this year. He is a high member of Gamma eta Gamma fraternity and other college societies. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kulas are members of the younger set at Washington. After commencement, they will make their home in Lowell, where Mr. Kulas will practice law. The wedding was a quiet one, due to the bride's recent bereavement. Lowell Investors Not Buying Up Local Estates the old-time channels where money was invested freely and demands were higher for investment chances, a feeling of retrenchment and conservatism.

Not that this feeling is current in general banking circles, however, but in the walks of life in Lowell where private individuals formerly lavished large amounts of money on personal investment campaigns and continually turned over their holdings for their own advancement, profiting in many ways and encouraging further investments and keeping investment moneys in circulation within the limits of Lowell.

Local bankers are not backward in investing money today, of course, and loans are the rule always where money is desired by estimable citizens. But the banking interests find the sentiment as regards property buying in Lowell, somewhat hard to understand and while they all handle large sums of money nearly every local deal put through, even in cases where Lowell properties are bought by investors from outside cities and towns, few can quite understand why it is that more sales are not recorded in the transfer papers with Lowell names on the purchasing end.

Increased Bank Loans
Lowell bank loans have increased remarkably during the past year. The Sun was informed today that there is "tight" money in Lowell today so far as banking loans are concerned, and indeed, more than one Lowell business man on Merrimack and Central streets, will tell you that money is easier to obtain today from Lowell banks than merchandise from some shipping headquarters far away.

One large Lowell institution for savings today referred to the several large properties that have recently changed hands and been transferred through mortgages from Lowell ownership to owners living in both Boston and Lawrence. The fact is, one banker said, that Lowell citizens do not seem to be anxious to invest their money in "home properties" at the present time. Whether this is "lack of confidence" in Lowell's prosperity or future prospects, or whether it is due simply to a retrenchment policy that has become somewhat "set in" in certain investment circles, the banker said he did not know. He did say, however, that investors from other New England cities see immense values in Lowell properties of all kinds today—that the recent large "buys" on the part of out-of-town investors are made only after carefully investigating all the investment features that must be looked into, and that every sale recently made to non-citizens was made with entire confidence that Lowell's future, notwithstanding industrial problems on every hand, was substantially safe and one worth participating financially.

One Lowell bank today, with large capitalization and reserves, has more than $7,000,000 invested in Lowell properties. The Sun was told this morning. There are some also loaned on properties locally that run as high as $500,000. One hundred thousand loans are common. A loan of $75,000 was negotiated within a week of 10 minutes by a well-known Lowell business man while the Sun representative was in the bank first visited in connection with this story.

One Lowell bank owns mortgages upon nine large Lowell business blocks today—blocks whose business owners are known to every man, woman and child in Lowell. One large block contains a prosperous theatre.

Sixteen Lawrence business properties are listed on one bank's list of borrowers. The mortgages are all in every respect and Lawrence comes to Lowell regularly for money from local banks.

BOY LOST HIS LEFT LEG

Lad Run Over By Car is in Serious Condition at Hospital

As a result of being run over by an electric car in Collinsville yesterday, and having his left leg amputated below the knee, Valmore Cornellier, aged 15 years and residing in Draught, is in a serious condition at the Lowell Corporation hospital.

The lad, so it is claimed, was exercising a horse owned by Charles Little of Collinsville in Lakeside avenue yesterday when an electric car operated by Thomas Boyle came along. The horse became frightened and mistepped, throwing Cornellier and his leg into the front of the car, one of the wheels going over his left leg. The boy was rushed to the hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the member below the knee. It was stated at the institution this afternoon that although the lad is resting comfortably, his condition is very serious.

desired are not unobtainable and are always easily negotiable. There are no bars placed on would-be borrowers, the local institutions insist. Frank Borley and Arthur Mills, located in adjacent villages have not been invited to the meeting.

A large percentage of the 2000 workers employed in the Lowell mills are expected to attend. About 25 per cent. of the employees are said to be connected with the United Textile Workers of America. At a meeting held yesterday the proposal was discussed but because of the small attendance no vote was taken.

There does not seem to be an active demand on the part of Lowell real estate buyers today for Lowell property. We believe that is because the Lowell investing public has no ready funds to put into property at this time, or prefers to wait a little longer. But that isn't saying that men in other cities are willing to purchase real estate here, and they are doing it, as we know, but in almost every case money to negotiate the large real estate transactions you have been reading about recently, was borrowed from Lowell banking institutions. That of itself ought to prove one thing—that the money is here, that the values are here and that a good many people, even outside of our home city, have a mighty good opinion of Lowell today as a city in which to expend and also invest good money."

Mayor Appoints Planning Board

Lawrence Man Buys Lowell Property

NEW CITY PLANNING BOARD WAS NAMED TODAY BY MAYOR DONOVAN

Acting in accordance with the provisions of a city ordinance enacted recently by the municipal council, Mayor Donovan this morning appointed five men to serve on the planning board, the terms of office varying from one to five years. The names of the appointees will be sent to the municipal council tomorrow evening for confirmation.

The appointees and their term of office are as follows: Patrick O'Hearn, one year; Dr. George O. Lavalley, two years; Raymond M. Humphrey, three years; Benjamin S. Pouszner, four years; and Michael A. Lee, five years.

Mr. O'Hearn is a well known contractor living in Riverside street. Dr. Lavalley is a practicing physician with office and home in Merrimack street. Mr. Humphrey is a real estate and insurance broker and resides in Westford street. Mr. Pouszner is publisher of the Sunday Telegram, while Mr. Lee is business agent for the Carpenters' union and makes his home in Bartlett street. The other members of the board, who will be connected with it by virtue of their office are Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, chairman of the public service board; Clarence M. Webb, chairman of the park commissioners; and Francis A. Connor, superintendent of public buildings.

The ordinance was passed and adopted by the council February 5 last and provides that the members of the planning board shall make a careful study of the city and prepare plans for future needs. It shall spend money for the hiring of experts and clerical assistance and other purposes as the city council may authorize from time to time. The board shall make an annual report relative to the condition of the city and plans for improvements and the cost thereof, to the city council.

LAWRENCE MAN BUYS VALUABLE PROPERTY IN ROGERS AND MERRILL STREETS

The large tenement property at the corner of Rogers and Merrill streets was today sold to A. Daley of Lawrence, the sale price being in the vicinity of $26,500. The sale was effected in behalf of the J. M. G. Parker estate through the real estate office of T. H. Elliott.

The property consists of a large 17-tenement wooden building, four stories high and 7533 square feet of land. It was built by J. M. G. Parker several years ago. It is located at 30 Merrill street and 32-35-37 and 29 Rogers street. The estate was represented at the sale by Thomas Talbot Clark, treasurer of the Talbot mills in North Billerica. It was stated that the purchaser is planning to spend a large amount of money in modernizing the building.

THREE WOMEN AND ONE MAN LOSE LIVES IN NEW YORK FIRE

NEW YORK, March 26.—A lighted cigar believed to have been carelessly tossed by an intoxicated man, started a fire which swept today through the seven-story Princeton Apartments in West 57th street, occupied by theatrical and business folk, and caused the deaths of four persons and the serious injury of many others. The dead are: Anna Fries, an exhibition roller skater, killed in a jump to a stone courtyard from a window of her sixth floor room.

Mrs. Margaret Lee, 65 years old, and her daughter, Emily, a stenographer, burned to death in their apartment on the top floor.

Frederic Mizoule, 26 years old, Miss Margaret Lee, an actress, daughter of Mrs. Lee, who took to a hospital, severely burned, and may not live.

LOWELL INVESTORS NOT BUYING UP LOCAL ESTATES

Out-of-Town Investors Find Lowell Good City for Conducting Financial Deals—Lowell Banks Getting Nearly All Business in Mortgage Loans on Large Transactions

Nearly all of the largest real estate deals recorded in Lowell and vicinity during the past year, with out-of-town parties the purchasing investors, were handled entirely with funds loaned on mortgages secured in Lowell banking institutions.

Numerous recent transfers of valuable Lowell real estate holdings to out-of-town buyers, have engendered many lively discussions in local real estate, banking, mercantile and general trade circles, which was to have been expected.

Reports, entirely unfounded, have gone the rounds of the city and county to the effect that the purchase of valuable pieces of Lowell business structures and sites recently by financial interests located either in Lawrence or Boston, indicates a vast expenditure of funds secured from deposits or loans in banking institutions outside the city of Lowell.

The simple truth of the matter, local investment interests declared today, is that there are plenty of funds in all Lowell savings banks and trust companies today at the prompt disposal of any reputable citizen who desires loans at regular rates of interest on Lowell properties, and no one has to go outside of Lowell to borrow money.

It is no trouble at all to secure a loan of sixty per cent on Lowell properties where the values are stable and the borrowers are properly able to handle loans. In fact, money may be considered fairly cheap today in Lowell.

Thousands of dollars are being loaned by local banks regularly on properties, personal notes, etc. Some loans are made in large sums on just a personal demand, where the credits of patrons are well known and beyond question. No banking institution in New England are more liberal in their dealings with borrowers and more eager to accommodate men and women who desire additional funds and make known their wants and furnish proper credentials.

The real kernel in the nutshell of the loan situation today, investment interests practically agree, is that Lowell property placed on the market here for disposal cannot find ready customers at the present time in the city at large. There seems to be in PARIS, March 26.—(By the Associated Press) Mme. Sarah Bernhardt is dead. The noted actress succumbed late today after waging a heroic battle with death.

Shortly after 3 o'clock a priest arrived at Madame Bernhardt's home to administer extreme unction.

The priest, Father Ressler, came from the nearby Church of St. Francois de Sales and his entrance into the Bernhardt home was taken by the watchers outside as visible evidence of the abandonment of hope.

Hundreds of the actress' friends were calling at the house in a steady stream and the street was sometimes crowded with the carriages and automobiles of those coming to pay their respects.

Mme. Bernhardt received extreme unction during a sudden recovery of approximate consciousness that began about 3:10 o'clock. Fr. Ressler said she was sufficiently conscious to show by movements of her hands and otherwise, that she understood the ceremony.

PARIS, March 26.—(By the Associated Press) "I am deeply touched with the sympathetic interest of my beloved American friends."

This was Sarah Bernhardt's last message to her friends overseas given the Associated Press at 6:45 o'clock this evening by her secretary, Madame Normand.

Bernhardt—the "Divine Sarah"—was born in Paris, Oct. 22, 1845.

Critics of all countries united in declaring Sarah Bernhardt was the foremost actress of her day—and that was more than a half century period!

"Super-Woman"

If her life was one of achievement—mainly that of seemingly perpetual youth. She was often called "super-woman."

At the age of 17 she made her debut at the Comedie Francaise in Paris. Her first notable triumph came in 1867 in a French version of King Lear and as the queen in Hugo's Ruy Blas.

From that date her life has been one triumph, each the more remarkable because of the advancing years.

At 22 she was a wonderful success. At 50 her star burned as brightly as ever.

And at 75 she charmed audiences the same as she did 50 years ago! At 75 her position of years as the first actress of her day still was undisputed.

She visited America many times. Her last tours were in 1911, 1913, 1916 and 1918. Each was a tremendous success.

"Mean Nothing"

Asked by interviewers about her age and her secret of youth, she would reply: "I never think of years. They mean nothing to me!"

She knew full well that when Maude Adams declared "if a woman have charm, she needs nothing else," she was right.

LODGING HOUSE KEEPER FINED $200 FOR CARRYING GUN AND DIRK KNIFE

Manong Ayedolan, proprietor of the lodging house at 323 Middlesex street, where the alleged attempt at felony assault on a 16-year-old Chelsea street girl took place on March 16, was arraigned in the district court this morning and on findings of guilty to two counts of illegally possessing dangerous weapons, was ordered to pay a fine of $100 on each count. This is the minimum.

Ayedolan's arrest followed that of William J. Allard in the Middlesex street establishment when it was found that a dirk knife and a revolver were concealed on his person. He was booked for carrying a concealed weapon, and also for violating an amendment to a recent statute, which states: "being an unnaturalized foreign-born person did, within the commonwealth, own and have in his possession and under his control a certain firearm, to wit, a revolver, without having permit to carry same as requested by law."

STATE BOARD AGENT RUSHES TO FALL RIVER TO AVERT STRIKE

STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 26.—An eleventh hour attempt of the state board of conciliation and arbitration to avert the threatened strike of 30,000 textile operatives in Fall River, will be made when Fred M. Knight, agent of the board, arrives in Fall River tonight.

Alarmed at the trend of events in Fall River, the board will exert every effort to induce the Cotton Manufacturers' association and the operatives to arbitrate. Agent Knight was in

MODEL'S MISSING GARMENTS FOUND

NEW YORK, March 26.—An expensive dress and a hat listed among the articles stolen from the apartment of Dorothy Keenan, slain model, were found by detectives today at the home of Mrs. Anna Keenan, the dead girl's mother.

Detectives who discovered the garments during an interview with Mrs. Keenan, said the Broadway butterfly's mother at first seemed surprised, but quickly explained that she had gathered together some of Miss Keenan's effects when she went to her apartment.

LOCAL DOCTOR ORDERED INTO ACTIVE SERVICE

Captain Clarence B. Livingston, of 55 Hart avenue, a member of the medical branch of the organized Reserves, has been ordered into active duty for a period of three days for the purpose of examining applicants for commissions and enlistments into the local branch of the organized Reserves.

Captain Livingston is the first reserve officer in this district to be ordered into active service, but later on

CAPT. CLARENCE B. LIVINGSTON

In the year it is hoped that a group of recruiting officers will be ordered into service and sent on a campaign throughout northeastern Massachusetts recruiting men for the service.

Except in case of emergency no man can be ordered into the service without his first requesting such an order, and, as it was necessary to examine a large group of applicants at this time, Major Tooley, executive officer of this district for the organized Reserves, had Dr. Livingston apply for service.

LAKESIDE, N. J., March 26.—Mrs. Carroll Walworth, daughter of George J. Gould, received a cablegram today advising her that her father, who has been seriously ill in France, with pleuro pneumonia, was sinking rapidly.

ICE ON WAY DOWN RIVER

Huge Cakes Sweep Flashboards From Dam at Pawtucket Falls

Huge quantities of ice came down the river Saturday night and Sunday, and again this morning just before sunrise, making a lively picture for Sabbath strollers along the Pawtucket dam and Monday pedestrians hurrying to work.

The waters are heavier and rougher today after the departure of the field of thick ice that broke away far above the three ice houses and came rushing down the river.

The ice massed heavily on the dam flashboards, sweeping many feet of the boards away and bending the iron spike-holders almost double as the mass shot over the dam.

This morning more ice in vast quantities broke away from a point in the river opposite the city filtration plant, and again this morning just before sunrise, making a lively picture for Sabbath strollers along the Pawtucket dam and Monday pedestrians hurrying to work.

LISTING BOARD AT WORK ON BUDGET

Members of the listing board, of which Thomas R. Atkinson, superintendent of police, is chairman, are now working on a supplementary budget, which they expect to have ready to submit to the city council at tomorrow evening's meeting.

The budget will cover expenses to be entailed during the year for clerical assistance and stationery.

It was announced today that J. Omer Allard was elected secretary of the board. Also that after Sunday, April 1, daily sessions for registration will be held in the office of the board in the basement at city hall. The board expects to have the police officers start out Monday morning on the listing of poll taxes and dogs.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Funeral Yesterday of Michael J. Monahan—Service at St. Peter's Church

In the presence of thousands of sorrowing friends, parishioners and acquaintances, the funeral services—beautiful, impressive and inspiring—of Michael J. Monahan, late president of Division 3, A.O.H., and a prominent and highly respected resident of St. Peter's parish, took place from his home, 35 Linden street, yesterday afternoon. The cortege left the residence at 1:45 p. m. and slowly and solemnly marched to St. Peter's church, where deceased had been an active and devoted attendant for a great many years.

A testimonial of the high esteem in which deceased was held, the streets through which the funeral procession passed were lined on both sides with crowds of sympathizing citizens who knew, directly or indirectly, of the unselfish charitable and social activities of the late A.O.H. official.

Headed by the Lowell Grand Band, under the direction of John J. Giblin, the three local divisions of A.O.H., and large delegations from other Irish societies, marched in a body from Hillman headquarters in Middle street to the home of their late brother, Mayor John J. Donaghy, with James J. McManamon, headed the marchers who were escorted to the Linden street home by a uniformed firing squad in charge of Michael F. McDermott, and consisting of Thomas Slatery, William Devaraux, Thomas Griffin, Patrick Regan, John Regan, Michael Guthrie, John Purcell and James Watson. Upon reaching its destination, the line of march, which extended from Linden street to the church edifice, assumed the position of guard of honor, as the casket was borne from the house on the shoulders of the acolytes, Richard J. Lyons, Jeremiah Driscoll, William J. Welch, Frank Carr, Nicholas Halpin and Bernard D. Wood.

The honorary pall bearers, who also served as ushers at the house and church, were four Lowell ex-mayors, Hon. Perry D. Thompson, Hon. James B. Chazy, Hon. John F. McManahan, and Hon. Denis J. Murphy, together with State President James J. Hanford of Waltham; County President T. J. Linehan of Malden; James J. McManamon, Michael P. Connelly, James O'Sullivan and John O'Sullivan. Other Irishmen officials present were County Treasurer Timothy O'Connell of Newton; County Vice-President W. P. Peeney of Waltham and Michael Coyne, president of the Watertown division of the A.O.H.

As the cortege approached the church entrance and the band played a funeral march, the firing squad was called to attention and stood at "Present" arms while the casket was borne up the stone steps of the church. Led by Joseph Garrity, the Irish delegations followed and took up their appointed places in the center aisle of the main auditorium. The adjoining side sections, and the rear of the church were thronged with men and women anxious to pay their last respects to deceased and join in the solemn service.

Eulogy By Dr. Keleher
Being Sunday, the church services were brief, but impressive. Before giving the final absolutions of the dead, Very Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's, and who was assisted in the ceremony by Rev. Francis L. Shea, as deacon, and Rev. John M. Maillon, as sub-deacon, addressed the pulpit to pay a final tribute to his deceased parishioner and friend. "While it is not customary," said Dr. Keleher, "that eulogies for laymen be delivered in the church, I feel that something should be said in the case of this extraordinary man."

"I feel a great bereavement and a great personal loss in the death of Michael Monahan," he continued. "He was a man of great character and of great worth. I do not know of a man I ever loved or admired more. Michael J. Monahan was a man with every instinct of the nobleman, physically, mentally and morally. He was ever true to principle—true to what he thought was right and ever courageous to condemn what he thought was not right."

"He was a great lover of his native land and his words were always supported by appropriate action. I will remember him many and many a long day and I will remember him at the altar. Let each of you remember him."

Visiting Nurse Reports Experience With Zonite
Used New Antiseptic in Her Daily Care of Sick and Helpless

From the vast number of reports as to the use of Zonite which are reaching us from every source, the following letter is selected as being of particular interest. It comes from a parish nurse who gives her life to alleviating suffering and disease among the very poor. The appalling conditions of squalor and dirt with which such nurses are forced to contend make an ideal breeding ground for malignant bacteria.

Nowhere in the whole field of preventive medicine is the use of an effective antiseptic and germicide so essential as in the hands of a well trained parish nurse. The letter is from Miss Catherine E. Stokes, 19 Hawthorne Street, Waverly, Mass. "As a district parish nurse worker it may interest you to know what I have accomplished with Zonite among the poor people of this city. I use it exclusively for infections of all sorts. In every case I have been able to absolutely clean up bad infections in a few days' time. I have also used it as a throat spray with almost miraculous results. I tried it recently as a nasal douche on a little girl with a very bad case of catarrhal trouble, which she had suffered with since childhood. After three days' treatment with two sprays a day I had this child absolutely well. I will be glad to furnish you with a detailed report of all Zonite is a stabilized, concentrated and improved form of the famous Carbol-Dakin solution. It has more than twice the germicidal strength of pure carbolic acid, yet is non-poisonous, non-irritating and absolutely harmless to the most delicate membrane or tissue.

Zonite is rapidly supplanting the most poisonous burning compounds or the weak, inefficient mouth washes and gargles heretofore in general use. It has a hundred uses in the home.—Adv.

New Machine Throws a Beam of Light to Sea Bottom—To Gauge Depth

LONDON, March 26.—The latest nautical invention now in use on a Newcastle pilot boat is a machine which throws a beam of light to the sea bottom, allowing the depth of the water below the ship to be gauged. The searchlight is worked through a hole in the lower part of the ship placed nearly through which the beam of light may be seen. A mirror is set at the end of a long observation tube running vertically through the ship to the bridge. By working a handle an officer can take any angle of the projected beam and by a simple calculation measure the depth of the water below.

TO RESUME NEAR EAST PEACE CONFERENCE

PARIS, March 26. (By the Associated Press.)—The near east peace conference will be resumed at Constantinople shortly, according to the best information available here. Great Britain will be represented by Gen. Sir Charles Harington, commander of the allied forces at Constantinople and by Sir Horace Rumbold, British high commissioner; France by Gen. Pella, the French high commissioner, and the United States by Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, an observer. A message received in Paris from Ismet Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, says the Turks hope a definite peace will be made, but that they will not consent to a peace of commercial concessions made at Turkey's expense for the benefit of foreign business interests.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Unique comedy men are Dave Seed and Edna Austin, appearing in "Things and Stuff," at the B. F. Keith theatre this week. Once upon a time Seed and Austin went their merry ways with their partners and they combined their talents in one of the finest examples of travesty to be found on any stage. For want of a better name they call it "Things and Stuff." Nothing but high class burlesque comedy, but that these two men can achieve, and they do it in such a manner as to make themselves always acceptable.

Hank Brown and Co.
Hank Brown and Co. are also scheduled for appearance here. Miss Ball is a high grade violinist who has popularized many classics, and her brother is a "cellist of big calibre. His education was gleaned as a member of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra, and he has appeared solo at many occasions. Miss Ball is very well known in Lowell. She has many close friends here, and her success is pretty well assured from the very start.

"One Night" conjures up strange, uncanny happenings. Arthur Hartley and Helen Patterson will present this odd comedy in which a woman thief appears. She isn't of the ordinary stripe of thief; she takes what she can get for charity. Well, believe it or not, the comedy runs along in fast fashion, and holds many a good situation and laugh.

Miss Harriet Moran, born and bred in Lowell, will be Hank Brown's principal assistant in his latest success. Miss Moran has the reputation of being one of the most charming women on the vaudeville stage, and her stage is a most enjoyable part of the act. Mr. Brown is a calling-card comedian who has been entertaining thousands for years.

"Melodious Moments," which Ethel Hopkins will offer, is series of interesting numbers, given by a well trained, attractive young woman, who is known as the "daughter of vaudeville." The act is worthy of high commendation.

Noel Lester & Co. in "A Variety Surprise," and the Roma Duo, eccentric dancers, will complete this very good bill.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"The Masquerader," the feature attraction at the Merrimack square theatre for the first part of the week, comes to the screen from the stage with a record that probably never has been equalled. For more than three years it has served as a vehicle for tiny Fats Waller, who has appeared in the leading role of the screen version of one of the most sensational dramatic features ever filmed. The other feature is "Love in the Dark" starring Viola Dana.

RIALTO THEATRE
"The Greatest Menace," portraying the perils of the drug habit in the United States and the methods which the government is taking to suppress it and also carrying a delightful love story told in a pleasing way, is the big attraction of the Rialto theatre all this week being shown after-noon. The picture is reputed to be the biggest production of the year and is truly amazing for the way in which the author and director have both followed the many details.

Herbert Rawlinson in "One Wonderful Night," is another attraction that makes a good running mate for the big picture, and which is also a snappy comedy, a serial and the Rialto News Review.

THE STRAND
Frank Mayo in a different kind of a story, entitled "The First Degree," will head the bill at The Strand for the first three days of this week. It's an out-of-the-ordinary story for Mayo, and he brings to the surface his own accomplishments, never before reflected by this star. Gladys Walton in "A Dangerous Game," is the other feature, and there will be the usual comedy and Weekly. It's a big bill. Don't miss it.

H. T. Fletcher Asked to Be Chairman of Committee on Armaments at Conference

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 26. (By the Associated Press.)—Henry T. Fletcher, head of the United States delegation to the Pan-American conference has been asked by several of the most interested nations to be chairman of the committee on armaments.

Although the full committee will be composed of 13 members representing all the delegations it is expected that a sub-committee will be named consisting of representatives of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and the United States, and it seems assured that Mr. Fletcher will head this group.

The committee probably will seek a modification of the positions taken by the A. B. C. powers with reference to their armament requirements. With the expectation that Argentina and Brazil will be able to find a common ground, Chile, it is learned, anticipates suggesting a proposal for reference of the differences to a committee which will report at the next conference. Argentina has made it known that she is ready to accept the status quo or equality, with any other South American nation.

Mr. Fletcher and Montes de Oca, chairman of the Argentina delegation, have been selected to reply to the opening address delivered by Luis Izquierdo, Chilean foreign minister.

CHARGE WOBURN GIRL WITH LARCENY

A continuance to tomorrow. In order that her father and brother might be communicated with, was granted Catherine Brady, alias Dora Hall, 23, of Woburn, who was arrested in the district court this morning, on a charge of larceny in connection with the theft of a fur coat valued at $175, a suit valued at $55, a pair of gloves, $2.25, a gold watch, $50, and chain, $5, the property of Rosa C. Jacques.

The young woman was arrested by Inspector John J. Walsh in a restaurant in the creek colony section, this morning. She gave the name of Dora Hall, stating that she had been living with a man by that name until a short while ago, when he left her. She was found guilty of the charge today and bonds fixed at $300 for her appearance tomorrow morning.

ALLEN'S LUNG HEALER SAVES BOY'S LIFE

Seventeen Year Old Boy Restored to Health After Being Given Up.

The king of remedies is constantly adding many to its army of saved. The story of Mrs. Greenlaw's is only one of many that have come to our notice in the last few years. Read what she says: "My 17-year-old son was taken last March with a bad cold and cough and got so sick that he had to give up his job in the store of Eastman Bros. & Harcourt. He coughed so that he could not eat nor sleep and looked like death. After trying everything I found Allen's Lung Healer. He kept on taking it and in two months his cough was gone and he began to get fat. He worked out through the summer and went back to work in the store in September, a well boy, all of which is due to Allen's Lung Healer. It is a wonderful medicine, worth a great deal of praise. It saved his life and I cannot recommend it too highly for bad coughs and colds. It is also good for building up the body."

DANGER OF FLOOD IS AVERTED FOR PRESENT

GREENFIELD, March 26.—Although a big ice gorge in the Deerfield river above Hethburn Falls still remains unbroken, the waters of the river, which have blocked the Mohawk trail within the past two days and crept perilously near the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad, had receded early today and the danger of a flood averted for the present. But unless the blockade is removed before another thaw or heavy rains come, serious conditions are likely to result, with possible heavy damage to farms and the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine.

In the Connecticut river, there has been no spring breakup here and Chief Engineer Bean of the Turner's Falls Co., said today that none is likely for a week or so. The ice is so thick and firm above the company's dam that horses were driven upon it yesterday. At the Vernon dam, 20 miles above here, trouble from ice has been minimized by the removal from the dam of all the flashboards. Last year only part of them were taken off and the ice formed a blockade.

TO INVESTIGATE
BRIBERY CHARGES

CHICAGO, March 26.—Members of Gov. Len Small's family have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury which convenes at Waukegan today, to investigate rumors of an alleged attempt to bribe jurors and witnesses in the trial of Governor Small last summer on charges of conspiracy, it became known here yesterday.

Leslie Small, the governor's son, A. E. English, his son-in-law, and Werner W. Schroeder, his legal representative, have all been summoned to appear before the jury, the governor announced. Members of the jury which acquitted the governor also have been asked to appear before the jury to testify, it was reported. The total number of subpoenas issued being nearly 50.

CRACKSMEN ROB
CHAIN COMPANY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 26.—Hundreds of feet of chain links, a quantity of white gold and jewelry valued by the owners at more than $7000, were taken by cracksmen, thought by the police to be professional, who tore the door of a large safe in the office of the Speddy Chain Co., at 71 Willard avenue, in this city, some time yesterday morning. Jewelry of still greater value was left behind by the thieves, who are believed to have been frightened away after they had entered the first safe.

Tools used in the break were left behind by the cracksmen as well as a trail of gold leading to the neighboring thoroughfare, Blackstone street, where they jumped into a waiting automobile and whisked away.

AMERICAN CAPITAL TO REBUILD ANGORA

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—British commercial interests are giving much attention to the efforts of American business houses to obtain concessions from the Kemalist government. The Federation of British Industries, in a letter to its members, points out the growing activities of American capitalists at Angora, and urges them not to overlook this economic invasion of Asia Minor.

The reconstruction of the ancient city of Angora as a modern capital, and the plan calls for the building of an entire new town, quite independent of the old capital. The city is to be constructed on wholly modern lines, embodying electric supply, telephone, broad avenue, skyscrapers, modern drainage and water supply and new government buildings.

Another American concern, it is stated, has made a proposal for the erection in different places in Angora of special workshops for the manufacture and repair of agricultural implements. To put this scheme into operation it is proposed to form a Turkish company, 50 per cent. of whose capital would be supplied by Americans and the remainder by Turks, while the personnel of the factories would be recruited from native labor. This proposal, it is said, has already been adopted in principle by the ministry of national economy.

"R.R.G." famous musical critic of the Boston Herald was deeply impressed with Colla O'More, the celebrated tenor, who sang at Symphony hall on March 11. O'More appeared in Lowell on Feb. 11, and here as in Boston, New York and elsewhere, his voice of exquisite quality and technique, brought him columns of praise from the music reviewers.

O'More has been secured to play a return engagement here on Thursday evening, April 5, when he will appear at the Memorial Auditorium under the auspices of Timothy J. Linnehan.

Read what "R.R.G." of the Boston Herald said about the famous tenor after his concert in Symphony hall, Feb. 11:

(By R. R. G.)

Colla O'More, a tenor new to Boston, gave a recital yesterday afternoon before an audience that all but filled Symphony hall. He had the help of Emilio Rose Knox, a violinist who played very agreeably and much to the liking of the audience, and Carl Brunner, an exceptionally fine accompanist.

Mr. O'More had to sing but very few notes to make his possession evident of a singularly beautiful voice, a voice of excellent volume and of exquisite lyric quality throughout its extensive range. By the end of his first song, furthermore, Mr. O'More had made it clear that he has taken the pains to acquire a remarkably skillful technique, notable for its even scale, a smooth legato, a firm control of breath which enables him to support solidly strong, high tones, and, above all else, for that judicious treatment of co-vocalism, which gives his voice in its extreme and exuberant moments a beauty of diction comparable only to Mr. McCormack's or Mr. Roland Hayes. In French he is supremely excellent.

Musically, as well, Mr. O'More shows himself able to do good work. The Bach air, for example, he sang so well, no one can make sound well, he contrived to sing with apparent ease and even with effect. The lovely song of Duparc he sang with distinction, and the lively Huc song with charm.

Other notable scenes are the occurrence of his conception. One of Winslow, Boston, Lillian McFie, Elizabeth Neale, Lynn, Eleanor Parsons, Brighton, and Edith Somerby, Watertown.

LIFE OF CHRIST

A large audience gathered at the Memorial Auditorium in East Merrimack street last evening when "The Eternal Light," a new, artistic film production of the life of Christ was shown under the auspices of St. Louis parish. The church choir was present and under the direction of Oliver J. David rendered appropriate hymns while the picture was being shown.

Miss Pearl Anne Froussier sang in splendid voice Faure's "Palmes" while Mrs. M. L. Chaffoux rendered effectively "Adieu, Madeline."

"The Eternal Light" is a masterpiece of artistic and religious prestige, reproduced from the great paintings of old masters, expressive of the life and sufferings of Jesus, his crucifixion, his most remarkable scenes is the conversion of Mary of Magdalene, the scene in which she washes the feet of Christ, bathing them with her tears, and drying them with her glorious hair.

Other notable scenes are the coming of the three kings, the scene by the sea of Galilee, the baptism in the Jordan and even the difficult picture of the temptation on the mountain.

This Laxative Works
Fine on Old People

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

ADVANCING age with its subdued ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, as everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, so much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 28 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or gripe. It is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, castor oil or such things. They purge and waken you, and their reaction tends to make you more constipated than before.

Now try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. Mrs. E. M. Burgess of Enfield, N. C., who is 73, keeps herself in good health with it, and Mr. Charles Chorman of Stoughton, Staten Island, N. Y., wasted fifteen years and considerable money on other remedies before finding steady relief with Syrup Pepsin.

Use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

THE MILL WAGE QUESTION

Again the controversy between the cotton mill operatives of Fall River and their employers emphasizes the very great need of some state authority to step in and examine the conditions of the mills and report whether they can fairly meet the demands made by their employees and to state just what they could be expected to do under the circumstances.

While the wage-earners and their employers have no such auxiliary to aid in settling their disputes, there will be over-recurring conflicts and controversies that will threaten the maintenance of industrial peace and in many instances lead to strikes where no conflict of the kind should be necessary.

The Fall River operatives have demanded an increase of 15 per cent in wages and it was confidently expected that the mill men would come forward with an offer of 12 1/2 per cent or at least 10 per cent. To the disappointment of the unions, however, the mill officials reply in a long statement showing in detail why they cannot grant the increase asked for or indeed any amount at this time. They assert that at no time during the past two years and up to the present, has it been possible to sell the standard goods, which constitute the larger part of the production of Fall River mills, at a price that would return the cost of making them on the day they were sold. That is a very serious statement, but it is backed up by others equally discouraging and descriptive of a condition in the textile industry that bespeaks anything but prosperity.

The spokesmen of the mills refer also to the increase in the tax rate in Fall River as another reason why they are unable to meet the demands of the employees. They assert that they must earn $100 for each employee to pay municipal taxes before anything remains for either the employees or the stockholders. In 1913, instead of $100 for each employee, the sum of $33 was sufficient to meet the city taxes. Thus it appears, that high taxes help to keep down wages in the mills.

The great trouble now between the operatives and their employers is, that these statements by the mill owners are not regarded as accurate. Here again is felt the need of some state authority or fact-finding committee to investigate the financial and economical conditions of the textile industry in Fall River and to pass upon the accuracy of the statements given out by the mill officials of that city.

It is only natural, however, that in their reply to a demand for increased wages, the mill agents should paint the conditions in the most unfavorable light. If things were quite as bad as alleged in the mills of Fall River, the industry must be at a low ebb, and its future, to say the least, very uncertain. We sincerely hope that the mills of Lowell will not put out such a discouraging statement of their present condition. To do so would be enough to cause many of the skilled operatives to look for employment elsewhere, or to shift to some other line of business. It is only natural that the operatives of cotton mills should seek a living wage as well as those of other industries; and if they cannot get it in those mills, it is reasonable to suppose that they will seek it elsewhere. But if the mill situation is anywhere nearly as bad as described by officials of the Fall River mills, then it would be disastrous for the operatives to go out on strike.

CLINICS FOR WAGE-EARNERS

An experiment started in New York city last year, has created wide interest all over the country in clinics that have to do with treating wage-earners when the latter are stricken with illness or disease. The report of this New York institution shows that thousands of workmen and women have been treated, as well as their children, at this great clinic where costs are very low and service, both medical and advisory, unusually reasonable from every standpoint.

It is called the Cornell University Paid clinic, and the first annual report just at hand, shows the number of visits made to this clinic was 113,981, by 22,400 different persons. The charge made by the clinic is one dollar a visit. This includes practically a complete medical service, minor operations, laboratory tests, etc. Applicants for treatment are carefully scrutinized and about half of them are rejected on the ground of being able to pay for private medical treatment.

Many health authorities have endorsed this "dollar clinic" and indeed it appears to illustrate real philanthropy combined with business. The Rockefeller Foundation is said to be partly supporting the New York clinic, and this, too, is an admirable thing to do with the oil baron's millions, of course.

Such experiments have practically unlimited possibilities. No one, of course, wants to discount the value and service of all of our general practitioners; but there is no getting away from the fact that health centers, health clinics and medical clinics are a most encouraging means of conserving health and the lives of the wage-earners, for whose benefit the New York clinic was established mainly to serve.

MR. DAUGHERTY'S MISSION

Washington reports that Mr. Daugherty, United States attorney-general, is now taking the part of chief political prognosticator, assuming authority, in fact, to speak for those who, he says, are sure to support President.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The circus advance agents are on the way. The Ringling combination with Barnum's outfit added, leaves Madison Square Garden next month for the eastern tour that includes New England. The Lowell appearance of the "Big Time" shows is not announced, but Ringling and his shows will be in Fall River June 27 and 28, two performances, and that is just before the turn north to Lowell and cities up north.

I have just learned that my old friend of the newspaper-publicity game, Dexter Fellows of Fitchburg, is back again this spring with the Ringlings. He has been advance press agent for Barnum, the Ringlings, Sells Bros. and the Ringlings at different times, and has been steadily at it for more than 25 years. I first met him when I was employed on the old Fitchburg Daily News, now defunct and buried without laurels. Fellows is the greatest press agent of the circus realm beyond question. Everybody in the newspaper game all over the U. S. A., Canada and Mexico, knows "Dexter" Fellows of Fitchburg. Great boy to distribute free passes to the big show when he drops around and sees the boss. If he finds a city that he can't "list," there's some way to capture the city authorities, and if it isn't dispensing an exclusive "free list," it's real coin of the realm, and the Barnums and Ringlings always trust "Dexter" to treat the town folks right when picking dates and selecting show grounds.

Clean-up campaigns are coming along now, with the first week in May chosen by some cities and towns for the big sweep-out of winter debris. The New England clean-up and paint-up campaign, sponsored by Boston headquarters, sends me a proclamation concerning clean-up week in May, urging mayors, selectmen, improvement societies, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, manufacturers, merchants and householders to enter a contest for starting silver can, which will be awarded to the city or town in New England conducting the best planned and most thorough campaign. The championship trophy was first won by Boston in 1921, and Lynn won it easily last year. It must be won three times to become the property of the winner. It is again offered as a trophy for the cleanest New England city in 1923.

Allen W. Clark of St. Louis builded better than he knew when in 1913 he suggested to his friends and neighbors in that city the idea of holding a general public and private cleaning up and painting up week under the slogan "Clean Up and Paint Up." The example of that first campaign has been a factor for good throughout the nation.

Dates for the country fairs to flourish in the spring in the vicinity of Lowell have just been selected. Lowell Driving Club and Agricultural society will hold its first annual fair with a horse show and races, the dates selected being August 30, 31 and Sept. 1. Gravel Agricultural society will hold a three-day fair Sept. 27, 28 and 29. Action Agricultural society's dates are Sept. 21 and 22.

Lowell Driving club executives and members of the Lowell Agricultural fair committee will this morning select the trustees of the new Memorial Auditorium to arrange for the free use of the Liberty hall quarters on the night of May 17, when a rally open to all citizens of Lowell and the county, will be held with notable speakers. A meeting being called to arouse interest in the August three-day exhibition and shows at Golden Cove park. Congressman John Jacob Rogers has promised to speak and Lester Smith, representative of both the Massachusetts and New England fair associations, will also address the gathering, and outline programs for the Lowell fair.

Gilbert F. Wright, owner and proprietor of "Alfalfa Gem Farm" in Westford, always a Mecca of interest to visitors desiring to see good alfalfa raised by the four-crop-per-year methods originated by Mr. Wright, has prepared an interesting paper on modern farming and land-tilling that is to be read at Wednesday's fourth institute of the season to be held in Westford town hall under the auspices of the Middlesex North agricultural society.

April 1 this year will be Easter Sunday, and beginning on the Monday following it, Lowell's social activities will again be in full swing. On April 6 the Lowell Guild will hold a ball, the proceeds of which will be devoted to their work of district nursing. The officers of the Lowell Guild have been fortunate to procure for this affair the services of the Danish school of classical dancing, and it is understood that these girls will give two dances for the Guild. Usually one dance is all that they give and the fact that they will give two here speaks well for their desire to help in every way they can the work of the Guild. The past winter has been especially hard on the different charity organizations of this city, and it is because of the fact that the Guild treasury is nearing depletion that they have planned on the ball. Lowell people are always willing to help a worthy cause and they need have no fear in lending their support to the Lowell Guild, for the number of blue-clad district nurses seen journeying around the city visiting any home where sickness reigns and their help is desired is ample proof of the good the organization is doing.

Several young girl friends of Miss Josephine Lyons of Seventh avenue, Pawtucket, R. I., gathered at the home of her sister, Miss James Clark of Butler street, on Friday night and presented Miss Lyons a valuable purse of gold. Miss Lyons is about to leave Lowell to take up a course of training at the Carney hospital in Boston. The evening was pleasantly spent by all present and games and dancing were enjoyed. During the evening refreshments were served and the party broke up at a seasonable hour, wishing Miss Lyons a genuine success in her new endeavor.

Freight traffic is breaking all records for this season of the year and the outlook for many lines that have heretofore been unable to conduct their traffic business profitably and earn dividends, is decidedly encouraging. The American Railway association reports that during the week ending March 15, loadings of revenue freight totalled 905,000 cars, just 31,000 and a fraction number above the same week of last year and a total of 201,775 above 1921.

Due to severe weather in various parts of the country, the total last week was 12,677 cars less than the previous week, but the open season is coming along and we may expect more records to be smashed with snow blockades disappearing and general conditions of rail traffic fast rounding into shape for prosperity.

Lost at sea—216 vessels. That was the toll for 1922, just announced. Once this would have been interesting news to everyone. Now most of us yawn. Interest has been transferred to auto, railroad and airplane accidents, except among those bound to the ocean by a business or personal tie. But for the wireless the number would have been much greater.

As a result of the gradual melting of the snow, we have fortunately escaped the dangers of a spring freshet in the river.

The time will soon have arrived for the spring clean-up. We expect the next few days will dispose of the last of the snow.

Let the wage question be settled and everybody will look forward to a season of good business.

The budget controversy should be settled without further delay.

Too many of our citizens believe weather will mean better health.

SEEN AND HEARD

A Thought

There is an ill-breeding to which, whatever our rank and nature, we are almost equally sensitive—the ill-breeding that comes from want of consideration of others—Huliver Lytton.

Very Welcome Visitor

A tourist who had been caught in a severe storm in the Highlands of Scotland congratulated himself after finding a solitary cottage, on being asked to stay over night. After donning a suit of his host's clothes until his own were dry, he met the mistress on the stairs with a big book in her hands. The good woman, mistaking the stranger for her husband, gave him a thump on the head, remarking: "That's for askin' the man to stay a' night."

Poor George!

Every day since they had started housekeeping his bride had given him the same kind of breakfast (food, and finally he mustered up courage to make a gentle inquiry. "How does it happen that we have this every morning?" he asked. "O George!" she exclaimed. "They give blue coupons with each package and for 100 coupons you can get the electric rocking chair. You have only to eat 90 more packages!"

The "Business" Conductor

At her first pantomime Fanny was inquisitive. After having asked many unanswerable questions she focused her attention on the conductor of the orchestra, who was waving his baton in a very businesslike manner. "Mother," she said, after gazing intently at him for some minutes, "who is the man who waves his arms about in the band—the one with the long hair?" "O, that's the conductor, dear," replied mother. Fanny looked more interested than ever, and then turned to the mother and asked: "What are his long hair?" The conductor? Then where's his bus?"

The Other Fellow's Case

An old Scotsman, in legal difficulties, called in his lawyer, to whom he presented the facts of the case and demanded to know what his chance of winning the suit would be. The lawyer was most encouraging. "That being the case, I'll not take action," announced the Scot firmly and decidedly. "But why not?" the lawyer asked in surprise. "Weel," said the canny Scot, "ye ken a course that it's my opponent's case I'm putting to ye."

Three Fatal Words

Heard at the dance: "See that woman over there?" "Yes; what about her?" "Well, if it hadn't been for three words she spoke about 10 years ago I should now be as rich as Croesus." "Delightful situation. Go ahead with the tale." "Well, her father owned two coal mines, and her family was absolutely rolling in wealth. And, with all her riches, she was mean enough to deprive me of my chances of making over a million at one blow." "Well, what is the rest of the story?" "What were the all-important three words?" "Why, I was going to marry her, and then all her riches would have been mine, but—"

Happiness

"Happiness," I thought, "is rich, a palace, proud and gay, Whose windows catch the flaming sun, And steal its gold away." "Some day," I said, "I'll take my place, My heritage, my right, Some day I'll dwell there as an heir, In splendor and delight!"

Happiness, I found, is humble, A cottage down a lane, Strange guests are often sheltered there,

The Ache of tears, and Pain, And when I reached the open door, The threshold warm and dry, I cried, "I am not worthy!" But it gently drew me in.

THOUSANDS OF STILLS IN DONEGAL MOUNTAINS

BELFAST, March 25.—The manufacture of illicit whiskey is being carried on vigorously in the desolate Donegal mountains, according to reports reaching this city. "Pretty collections in attractive Irish costumes assist their countrymen by selling a ready-made whisky, and near the stills and have arranged such a perfect system of signaling that the police cannot approach within five miles of any particular still without the despatch of a warning of their presence. Farmers are said to carry on this business in ravine and valleys of the mountains and thousands of stills are reported to be in operation. The "potheen" thus brewed is sold to publicans who are making enormous profits. So closely does the liquor resemble commercially produced whisky in color and taste that a connoisseur is often deceived.

MANY GRASS FIRES

Members of the fire department were kept busy answering telephone calls for grass fires yesterday. The first call was sent in at 8.41 o'clock for a grass fire in Blossom street and at 11.34 o'clock there was another call for a grass fire near the State Normal school. At 11.55 o'clock a third grass fire at 321 Westford street was also reported for a telephone call.

PLAN NEW YORK-NEWPORT AIR SERVICE

NEW YORK, March 25.—The hydro-airplane will enter the commuting business on June 25, it was announced last night, after completion of plans for a New York-Newport air service, upon the opening of the resort's season. It will be a week-end service to carry wealthy society folk who are among the incorporators.

Three four-passenger planes will enter the service. The 125 mile journey will be made in an hour and a half, according to the schedule. The time by train is six hours. Luggage will be carried in the planes but will cost their owners one cent a pound in addition to the $30 fare each way.

The company is to be operated with the aid of a subsidy provided by well known social leaders of Newport. Daily trips will be made.

Papers of incorporation for the company, to be known as the New York-Newport Air Service, Inc., will be filed in Maryland today. The incorporators, who will also be directors, are Vincent Astor, Grover Loening, Edwin de T. Bechtel, Charles L. Lawrence, Roger M. Poor, Albert Palmer Loening and John Carrington Yates, all of New York.

RECOVERY FROM 1921
DEPRESSION

CAMBRIDGE, March 25.—The recovery of business from the depression of 1921 has proceeded normally, in spite of European unemployment, and good business may be expected throughout 1923, according to a report made public by the Harvard economic service last night. The outlook for the remainder of this year is further expansion of business, firm or higher commodity prices, and firm or higher money rates, the Harvard economists predict.

"The Harvard index of general manufacturing output, increased from 28 per cent below normal in 1921 to 10 per cent above normal in January, 1923, normal being 75 to 80 per cent of capacity," says the report. "The prices of many commodities suffered in 1921, but it was not until 1922 that a widespread increase began."

"Manufacturing profits, also are now generally satisfactory. In 1921 losses were common and good returns the exception; in 1922 profits improved from quarter to quarter, but to many business men, it seemed that the days of really profitable business would never return. In the first quarter of 1923, strange to say, not a little pessimism has been generated by rapidly advancing prices and profits."

"Fear that the present good trade would not continue and reluctance to make commitments, at still higher prices, however, are not bad signs at this phase of the business cycle. So long as a conservative attitude dominates the general business community, the prospect of continued healthy advance remains. This attitude promises restraint of undue expansion and, therefore, sustains the belief that the present good business will not prove short-lived.

"In manufacturing industries the physical volume of production is now slightly greater than it was at the end of 1922 on the beginning of 1923; but if allowance is made for the growth of the country, production has not yet quite reached the level of three years ago. The fact that the output of manufacturing is relatively high does not, however, mean that we are nearing the peak and that production will in a short time decline. Three years ago our industries were producing for foreign markets many goods that were presently thrown back upon exporters' hands and production for domestic needs had not been completely readjusted to peace time needs. Moreover, labor had become very inefficient, and costs of production were very high.

"At present production is better balanced; foreign markets are not likely to become suddenly demoralized; and business men have not lost the caution engendered by the experiences of 1920 and 1921."

"These factors in the business situation, and the further fact that commercial loans are not yet very large and that bank credit is in no way extended, favor good business in 1923."

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

An enthusiastic meeting of the South Lowell Improvement association was held yesterday afternoon at their headquarters, at which it was voted to appoint a committee to meet with the board of public service to talk over street conditions in their section of the city. A petition made up by the association is now being circulated through South Lowell which calls for a public hearing by the city council so that citizens from that district may have an opportunity of voicing their needs before the body. The speakers at yesterday's meeting were Richard Sykes, Harry W. Leavitt, Councilors John W. Daly and Thomas N. McFadden, former Councilor Peter P. McMeniman and several others.

MARTIN J. HART'S EARLY DAYS IN LAWRENCE

It is Martin J. Hart, real estate, 253 Merrimack street, in the 1923 city directory, but his friends call him Martin. The fact that Hart has that real estate title tucked onto his name and address, does not interfere with his always endeavoring to be a good fellow and a friend of man. He is a Lowell citizen now, though born and bred in Lawrence, which speaks well for Lawrence, at that.

Lowell cronies of Martin's have been chatting this week about the recent visit of Brother Hart to Lawrence and the scene of the latter's old "Swamp" sporting days, including the "old Norcross shaving pile," which has many graduates including Martin himself.

The Hart visit to the down-river city the other day, caused quite a furor and one of the Lawrence newspapers had quite a dapper account of Mr. Hart's early life among the lads known to fame in Lawrence.

The old "Swamp" district in Lawrence used to be a hotbed of genuine sports in former years. Martin Hart and his brother "Gene" are products of the "Swamp" district and for many years conducted the old West End club in that section of Lawrence, which is in precinct 13, ward 5, near the Merrimack river.

In the summer the boys from the "Swamp" would go in swimming from the West End club's wharf, and it was at this place that many excellent swimmers were turned out, the number including Martin, of course, who later on came to Lowell to live and earn good money.

Immense matches in the "Swamp" district were formerly great attractions, and when matches were arranged between two young lads in Hart's group of cronies, spectators would gather on the banks of the river and cheer on to victory their favorite contestants.

One match in particular that once excited much interest, and at which much money changed hands, was between the late Charles E. Duffin, former West End club timekeeper, and Charlie Houghton, who has also since passed away. Both were clever wrestlers and were known throughout New England, but as swimmers they confined their activities to their own stamping ground in the old Lawrence "Swamp."

At the close of each match the "Swamp" lads would adjourn over to the rear of the old McCabe boiler works on Water street, Lawrence, where a huge pile of shavings was always to be found. Here tumbling in the shavings would be enjoyed, at the conclusion of which they usually would find it necessary to go back to the river and wash off the dust of the shavings. This Norcross pile of shavings was certainly the Mecca for all the boys who resided north of Broadway and south of Lowell street, where the district termed "Swamp" is actually located.

Some of the lads that tumbled and tossed about in the oil shavings pile are today traveling on the road with sides of the acrobatic game right there on the Norcross shavings.

Among the clever lads that Martin Hart remembers down in Lawrence years ago, were the Kenney brothers, Steve and Tommy, who were skillful tumblers and worked together until misfortune came to Steve when he received a serious bodily injury, that caused his death. Another lad, George Payne, and a youngster named Lavigne, made good on the stage, also.

Some of the Lawrence residents, all former athletes and former pals of the Lawrence boys acrobats and Mr. Hart of this city, who also took part in the shaving pile shenanigans and tumblings, are Superintendent of Parks John Brown, Matthew (Scotty) Warrick, George and Tim Connors.

The Hart brothers, Martin J. and Gene; Joe Cummings, Tommy Carter, Eddie Nolan, Jack McCormick, the late Willie Mack, and in fact all of the old time members of the West End club, were part and parcel of the "bunch" that in the years of the 90's shouted with great glee as they rolled and jumped around in the old Norcross shaving pile over there in that historic Lawrence "Swamp."

BILLERICA HIGH SCHOOL

Work on the high school playground improvements in Billerica will be started some time this week, if weather conditions permit. It is planned to have a new football field ready for the fall term. Other undeveloped territory on the playground will be utilized for additional athletic purposes as intended. The money for this work has been appropriated and amounts to $4000.

CONCERT FOR CHURCH
FUND BENEFIT

A very successful concert was given last evening in Abbot hall, Forge Village, for the benefit of St. Catherine's church fund. The affair was largely attended by residents of the town, North Chelmsford and this city, and the program was very enjoyable. At the close of the evening, those who participated in the program were entertained at luncheon at the rectory by Rev. A. S. Malone, pastor.

The program was as follows: Piano solo, Paul Angelo; song, "Call Me Back Pal of Mine," Frank A. Connor; monologue, John McFarlane; song, "Dublin's Fair City," James E. Donnelly; song, "Kerry Dance," Miss Florence Hughes; song, "Mother in Ireland," Raymond Kelly; song, "Mother Macree," Mrs. Nora Regan Longtin; reading, "The Fighting Irish," Miss Margaret M. Mahoney; song, "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," Timothy Finnegan; song, "Low Back'd Car," Mrs. Nana Gallagher Leachy; duet, melody of popular song, Miss Bertha Dion and Mrs. Alice Dion Angelo; duet, "Mr. Kilt," James E. Donnelly; duet, "Mr. Gallacher and Mr. Sheen," Edward P. Slattery and Charles J. Kayes. These accompanists were Mrs. Alice L. McLaughlin and Paul Angelo.

URGENT CONSTANT
NEED OF PRAYER

Rev. Percy E. Thomas, preaching yesterday at the evening service in First Congregational church on the "Prayer," urged his congregation to realize the constant need of prayer—prayer of the old-fashioned kind. Preceding the services Miss Elsie L. Gale, organist, played two selections, "Hosannah" and "Cantata," and Andrew A. McCarthy, baritone, sang "The Palmers."

Pastor Thomas' sermon extolled the religious devotion of the forefathers and their family altars and declared that today such things appear to be almost obliterated. The impression appears to be prevalent today that common prayer in the homes and elsewhere is a needless practice. The pastor continued. Another reason is that the world is a world of law and the effect of prayer is not realized by those who pray because of the governing laws of the universe.

The spirit of prayer, the pastor said, existed thousands of years ago, for the medicine man of the Indians prayed to unknown spirits. In India the natives have worshipped their strange gods for more than 3000 years, and by not having Christianity taken to them, still worship idols.

Pastor Thomas declared that prayer "came before the church," and today is the greatest thing in the world. He declared those people who are shy and retiring and actually afraid to stand up and pray aloud. Few people, he continued, realize what substantial results can be obtained from constant and devoted prayers. He closed by advising all to pray for business, to pray for the home and pray for ourselves. There is no need of carrying the burdens of grief alone, he said. "Go to God in prayer."

FASHION SHOW AT ASSOCIATE HALL.

Associate hall will be the attraction for all girls who would like to enter as models for the coming "Fashion Show" next Monday night. The contest held there that night will allow 20 girls to be chosen as models in the show that will be held later.

This is the first time ballots will be used to decide winners of a beauty contest and as 10 prizes valued at $250 are to be given, all the girls who entered all other contests should be contestants in this show.

Much interest is being shown and girls in all the different stores, shops and factories are planning to send an entry and with this interest shown the affair will be a big success.

Manager Roano, believed that the Lowell girls as models will surpass any, and out of all who have entered ten should certainly be picked by the people at the dance in the only fair way, by ballot. The girls selected will wear the gowns in a manner to satisfy the best of ladies' clothes designers.

ADDRESSED LAYMEN'S LEAGUE

Assistant District Attorney Gardner W. Pearson recently addressed the members of the Laymen's League in the vestry of the First Parish (Unitarian) church, Billerica, on the subject: "The Problems of the District Attorney's Office." The Lowell attorney described the numerous duties attached to his important office and told of the good work of his assistants in handling the many court cases that come up regularly in all sections of the county.

TELEPHONE GIRLS TO DISCUSS WAGES

BOSTON, March 23.—Delegates to the meeting here yesterday of the New England Council of Telephone Operators' unions voted to instruct Julia S. O'Connor, president of the Telephone Operators' department of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to send out a call within 48 hours for a special meeting of all affiliated unions on the New England Telephone system for the purpose of discussing the wage situation. This action was taken after reports had been read from numerous operators outside the metropolitan district urging immediate action. According to the reports submitted to the council the wages paid to telephone operators are far below those paid young women working in factories.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent cures the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combant which contains harsh grit.

on modern research. Those two great film destroyers were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Now it has come into world-wide use, largely by dental advice.

Other effects

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Those are vital tooth protectors. Soapy tooth pastes weaken them. That's one reason why they failed. Pepsodent multiplies their power.

Watch the change

The way to know is to make this test. Judge by what you see and feel. It will be a revelation.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Then you will realize how important this is to the people in your home. Cut out coupon now.

A Delight

That millions have discovered

Whiter, cleaner, safer teeth

Look about you—note the prettier teeth you see. Note how people smile to show them.

Think what added beauty those pretty teeth have brought.

Millions now clean teeth in a new way. You will use it when you know. This is to offer a ten-day test so you may find it out.

That dingy film

Teeth are coated with a dingy film—that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid.

It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why tooth troubles were almost universal.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

So dental science sought for film combatants, and eventually found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based
